This Signboard Is 500 Years Old

There was good hunting in Idaho 500 years ago. This specimen of Indian painting—recently deciphered by Morris Barrie, Navajo Indian with the American Museum of Natural History—is in Skull Canyon, 80 miles north of Idaho Falls, was placed there by scouts to advise a band of outcast Pueblo and Aztecs. Barrie, shown with Mrs. Barrie, also found a cave containing a well-preserved Indian mummy.

BOARD SWAMPED, SO NEWPORT HARBOR HAS NO COMMISSION

Delay on the part of the county supervisors in appointing a county harbor commission to administer Newport harbor, as provided by the harbor act, is due to the fact that Supervisor N. E. West has not yet filed his report and recommendations to the board.

And West's delay is due to the pressure of official business which has for many months kept the board nearly "swamped" he declared today, answering comments hinting at political reasons for the delay.

City In Charge

While the board delays appointment of a harbor commission, the harbor is under control and direction of Newport Beach city officials. West today denied that pressure has been brought upon him from such source, within his district, to cause delay in turning control of the harbor over to the county.

Asked regarding the delay, Supervisor Steele Finley, of Santa Ana, explained that he didn't know the reason, because he had been absent on account of illness.

"Too Busy"

Supervisor John Mitchell said "We are waiting for the report of Mr. West, who is harbor commissioner."

"We've simply been too busy with other matters to get around to the harbor commission," West explained. "The flood control matters, including the bond campaign, has occupied all of our attention since last spring that wasn't tied up with the salary readjustment job. That job will hold us another week or two. But we expect to get around to the harbor commission as soon as we can."

"Meanwhile everything seems to be getting along very well at the harbor as it is."

FORMER FILM STAR ARRESTED, RELEASED

SAN PEDRO, Cal., Sept. 15.—Edna Purviance, a star of the silent screen and once leading lady for Charlie Chaplin; posted $20 bail today to gain her release from police custody on suspicion of intoxication, according to officers.

They reported finding her in her automobile after she lost her way while returning to Hollywood from San Diego and Laguna Beach. The car was parked.

Friends took her home after she posted the necessary bail.

Miss Purviance retired from the screen several years ago.

Launch Quiz Into Chain Showhouses

HOLLYWOOD, Sept. 15.—(UPI)—The United States Attorney General's office prepared today to open an investigation into complaints by so-called "independent" movie theaters that they are being discriminated against in favor of chain showhouses in the booking of "first run" films.

The complaints were made against the big film distributing companies that are subsidiaries of Hollywood's major movie studios.

PATROL CHIEF CATO REVEALS TRANSFERS

SACRAMENTO, Cal., Sept. 15.—(UPI)—E. Raymond Cato, chief of the California State Highway Patrol, today announced transfer of three county patrol captains.

Cato said Capt. Steve Flynn of the Ventura county unit would replace Capt. Rudy Schmoke as head of the San Francisco-Oakland Bay Bridge contingent. Schmoke will go to the patrol's traffic school as an instructor.

Capt. John Parrett of Los Angeles goes to Ventura, replacing Flynn. Cato said Day H. Dunning, recently met a 15-day suspension for asserted use of alcoholic beverages both off and on duty, was transferred from Ventura county to an Imperial county assignment.

Nazi Break With Church Predicted

WASHINGTON, Sept. 15.—(UPI)—The administration adopted a policy of strict silence today concerning Justice Hugo L. Black and Ku Klux Klan charges—A silence which was expected to be imposed until return of Black from Europe later this month.

No word issued from the White House in amplification of President Roosevelt's press conference statement yesterday in which he withheld comment on the situation until Black's return.

Other administration figures adopted a similar attitude.

Parley Cancelled

Attorney General Homer S. Cummings who Monday asserted that Black's fitness for the supreme judicial post was "beyond question" cancelled a scheduled press conference today. Justice aides said the conference was cancelled to allow him to attend to "personal business." They denied the Black controversy had any connection with the cancellation.

As speculation stirred in the national capital over the possible political repercussions of the charges that Black was and still is a member of the Klan, Mr. Roosevelt called his chief political generalissimo, Postmaster General James A. Farley to the White House for a luncheon meeting.

Farley "Won't Talk"

Farley said as he entered the executive offices that he had "no idea" what subjects would be considered. He said he saw no reason to present to Pope Plus a complete exposition of the church's position.

Observatore Romano warned its readers not to think that the situation between the Church and Germany was improved because Nazi leaders refrained from attacking it during the Nuremberg congress.

Monsignor Orsenigo, Papal Nuncio to Berlin, is expected to arrive at the Vatican soon, it was said, to present to Pope Plus a complete exposition of the church's position.

Establishment of a city park and recreational center will be the motive behind Councilman Ernest Layton's request to the city fathers next Monday night for the appointment of an agent to get a price of 10 acres of land west of the Municipal Bowl.

It was said authoritatively that the forthcoming visit of Premier Benito Mussolini to Germany, represents the last hope of avoiding complete severance of relations between the Reich and the Holy See.

Establishment of a city park and recreational center will be the motive behind Councilman Ernest Layton's request to the city fathers next Monday night for the appointment of an agent to get a price of 10 acres of land west of the Municipal Bowl.

Layton was indicted by the Sacrament county grand jury soon after the 1937 legislature adjourned. He is accused of offering a bribe to Assemblyman Fred Reaves of San Pedro in exchange for a favorable vote on the Welsh oil bill, affecting the rich oil deposits beneath state-owned tidelands at Huntington Beach.

The legislator's first trial ended with the jury deadlocked at 10 to two for conviction.

Reaves and State Senator Culbert L. Olson of Los Angeles, whose state speech intimating bribery was being used to defeat his own bill started the investigation, were among the principal witnesses scheduled to be called.

At the present time all the property adjacent to the Municipal Bowl on the north will be used by Junior College students for parking during the football season. The proceeds will be turned into the student loan fund. At the close of the football season Councilman Layton, who also is city park commissioner, will have the property planted and playground equipment installed.

Layton has been endeavoring to establish a central park in Santa Ana ever since his election to the council and with the bowl as the start he believes that the acquisition of ten more acres will give this city a park of approximately 15 acres.

COORDINATOR PLEA REJECTED

YOUTH KILLED:
DRIVER SOUGHT

Objecting to payment of a salary of more than $175 for the post, the county supervisors late yesterday rejected the request of the county juvenile committee and Judge H. G. Ames that Dr. Edward Lee Russell, juvenile home physician, be named county coordinator.

Supervisor Steele Finley, who offered the rejection motion, had amended it at the suggestion of other members, after originally including the name of Dr. Russell in it. Dr. Russell's name was deleted and the $175 monthly salary maximum was substituted, as actually representing the reason for rejection.

$3000 Set Up

"I'm concerned with the job, not the man," said Supervisor Harry Riley, who, with Supervisors John Mitchell and N. E. West favored limiting the salary to the original budget provision.

The board had set up $3000 in the budget for the office of coordinator, this sum including cost of office space, secretarial and nursing hire. The probation department had arranged, however, to supply office space, secretarial and nursing service, so the juvenile committee recommended allowing the $3000 as salary to Dr. Russell, who was regarded as especially fitted for the work among juveniles as psychiatrist. The committee also proposed to keep Dr. Russell as physician at the juvenile home at $600 per year, thus providing a suitable salary of $3600 per year for filling both jobs.

Other Requirements

Riley and other board members, however, expressed belief that there were plenty of able organizers willing to take the coordinator job at $175 per month. They did not refer to other requirements of a coordinator, aside from organizing ability.

Chairman Willard Smith was the lone exception. Smith argued for acceptance of the juvenile committee's recommendation and the appointment of Dr. Russell. But he was over-ridden.

FORCE EMBARGO

Emile Faiver, 61, of Fullerton, who was held on suspicion of manslaughter following the death of Earl J. Rose, 38, Los Angeles tire shop owner, was released from the Los Angeles city jail yesterday, exonerated after the coroner's office reported that Rose had apparently died of a heart attack.

Rose dropped dead after a fist fight with Faiver, at 4727 South Broadway, Los Angeles, on Sunday. The fight was the result of an argument over a retreading job.

CATTLE PRICES JUMP

CHICAGO, Sept. 15.—(UP)—Cattle prices set a 17-year high in late trading today at the Chicago stockyards when choice steers sold at $19.10 per hundredweight. The previous high price was paid in January, 1920, when $19.25 was paid for best weight steers.

TRIO OF ORANGE COUNTY GIRLS
TELL HOW THEY "DID" EUROPE

Editor's Note: This is the first of two installments relating experiences of three well-known Orange county girls who have just returned from a three-month tour of Europe in a "midsize automobile."

BY GEORGE HART

Deputy Sheriff James Musick who, with California Highway Patrolman Horace Inge, is investigating the boy's death, found a quantity of freshly broken glass, apparently from a windshield or wing of an automobile, about 20 feet from where the body was found. The indication was that someone had scooped the glass off the highway, dumped it over a small levee and partially covered it with dirt.

Clyde Dougherty, operator of a bean thresher, who was near the road, said that a few minutes before the body was discovered he saw a black coupe stop for a few moments and then speed away. He said the car was possibly a Chevrolet.

Officers are requesting all garages and automobile repair shops to cooperate in the investigation and notify either the sheriff's office or the California Highway Patrol if they repair windshields or wings of any automobiles.

Inquest Pending

The body of the boy was removed to the Winbiger mortuary where Coroner Earl Abbey said that an inquest is pending.

The Henry boy, a resident of Standard Camp, Huntington Beach, was injured this morning when he stooped over to pick up the contents of his lunch box which he had dropped.

Holds Her Ears

Young Henry, a student in the Fifth grade at the Huntington Beach elementary school, and five other children were waiting for the school bus in the Standard warehouse before 8 o'clock this morning.

When the bus arrived the children ran around to the front door of the warehouse to board the vehicle. Young Henry's dog followed him. The other children climbed aboard the bus and Perry shut the door in an attempt to keep the dog from following the children. He did not see the Henry boy drop his lunch pail in front of the bus and stoop to pick it up.

Perry started the bus and the front wheel ran over the boy. Two men who saw the accident shouted and the bus was halted before the rear wheels struck the child. All the skin was peeled from the boy's left leg between the groin and knee and the left hip pressed into the ground.

He was taken to a Huntington Beach doctor for first aid and later removed to his home. According to Highway Patrolman George Peterkin, it is believed that no bones were broken.

Scated On Him

Their feeling of notoriety on these occasions was intensified by the fact that, due to Junior's physical conformation, the passengers were seated upon him rather than within him.

Their way led through the chateau country, along the Loire to Tours, thence over St. Gotthard pass to Geneva, Switzerland.

It was there that they marched over the Alps with the Swiss army.

Approaching the Alps, Junior cut loose with all the power of 10 horses. He passed up the marching column of troops nicely and was going strong—until his cylinder quit on him. The Swiss troops then passed in review, with appropriate remarks. Junior got going again, straggled for a bit, then spurred ahead of the army again. And quit again. From there to the summit the army and Junior kept passing each other.

Establishment of a picket line might halt ship movements to and from the San Francisco waterfront, John P. McLaughlin, teamsters union secretary said.

McLaughlin said the Sailors Union of the Pacific and the Marine Firemen, Oilers, Wipers and Waiters are considered "on the side of the American Federation of Labor Teamsters" and that they would refuse to pass through teamsters' picket lines.

Effective picketing by teamsters might halt ship movements at any docks affected by the current freight blockade, McLaughlin said.

McLaughlin, returning to San Francisco from the State Federation of Labor convention in Long Beach, will resume supervision of the A. F. L.-C. I. O. battle involving the teamsters and the C. I. O. International Longshoremen's and Warehousemen's Union.

QUAKE RECORDED

PASADENA, Calif., Sept. 15.—(UP)—A strong earthquake shock estimated to be 610 miles distant in a southwesterly direction, was recorded on the seismograph of the California Institute of Technology early today. The time of the shock was given as 4:40 a.m.

CANADA CUTS RELIEF

OTTAWA, Ont. (UP)—An improvement in business conditions and expanding employment has enabled the Canadian government to reduce its grants for jobless relief to the provinces by 25 per cent.

INVESTIGATE CABLE
TOWER DYNAMITING

LOS ANGELES, Sept. 15.—(UP)—Dynamiting of a 66,000 volt cable tower on the Colorado river aqueduct project, where a CIO strike is in progress, was being investigated today. Service was not interrupted.

Holes were drilled into the two poles supporting the tower and sticks of dynamite inserted, according to J. L. Burkholder, assistant general manager of the Metropolitan Water District, builders of the aqueduct.

One charge exploded and destroyed a pole, but the other failed to explode and was found in the hole. The tower is half a mile west of Colton on the power line that supplies electricity for pumps and machinery on the San Jacinto tunnel of the aqueduct.

Keegan said his wife entered the sanitarium a few weeks ago, suffering from a nervous disorder. He said she once tried to kill herself with poison at their home.

WANTS CARROT JUICE

CLEVELAND, Sept. 15.—(UP)—Dr. Robert Jackson of Toronto, enroute here for a lecture on diet, wired an advance order for a decanter of carrot juice to be sent to his hotel room. "I haven't touched meat in 30 years," he said, "and I'm as fit as any 20 year old boy." He will be 80 next Feb. 23.

UNION DANGER OUTLINED FOR FARM CENTER

COUNTY TO SELL "TAX LOTS" AT PUBLIC AUCTION

Following a talk by D. R. Gardner, president of the Orange County Farm Bureau, on the effect of intensified labor organization, closed shop and hiring halls on agriculture, Anaheim Farm center last night voted to approve the creation of a labor relations committee of the county farm bureau.

Hold Discussion

Considerable discussion on this subject grew out of Gardner's talk, when he pointed out that agriculture probably will suffer more than any other branch of society if organized labor continues under radical leadership and continues to use steam roller methods.

Gardner also reported the activities of the water committee. Orange county's waste water problem will be the topic for discussion at a joint meeting of the water district board, the farm bureau water committee and other interested bodies in the near future, he said.

A. D. Smiley reported on the multiplicity of detail attached to keeping records and making periodical reports in connection with the Social Security law, and advised farmers against becoming involved with it.

Pictures Exhibited

Frank Manuel exhibited colored motion pictures of his travels in Vermont and of a recent pack trip which he made in the vicinity of Duck lake.

A nominating committee, including A. A. Schutte, W. M. Small and William Mauerhan, will report at the next meeting.

BUILDERS TALK ON PROGRESS OF WORK

Discussion of problems pertinent to the construction industry by members, and reception of a comprehensive report on the State Builders Exchange convention at San Jose by the Secretary, were features of the monthly meeting last night of the Orange County Builders Exchange at the Women's Club in Orange.

Members who led in the discussions were Alison Honer, Fred McCandless and E. B. Kruger. G. W. Bassett, secretary-manager of the exchange, gave the report of the state convention and, in the absence of Theron Means, who is heading the vocational education project for Orange County, all aerial squadrons, polo groups and motorcycle squads sponsored by Capt. Victor McLaglen.

The Sunny Californians played for the dance sponsored last night at the American Legion hall by the Orange county unit of the McLaglen Aerial Squad. Captain McLaglen and his wife attended the affair and the sponsor of the Orange county aviation unit was so impressed with the orchestra that he arranged with Mann for the group to play for all dances and other functions sponsored by his various units.

METHODISTS TO STIR INTEREST IN MALE GROUPS

The county supervisors yesterday declared a policy of selling all tax-delinquent lots at public auction, rather than at private sale.

Several blocks of such lots have already been sold on private bid, and, according to Supervisor John Mitchell, other prospective purchasers stated they would have made better offers. Mitchell, Chairman Willard Smith and other members expressed favor for the public auction, to give everybody a chance, though the necessary advertising makes it more expensive. Tax Collector J. C. Lamb recommended that plan to the board.

The new policy will be applied to three blocks of lots aggregating about 80 lots, in the Springdale district, a mile east of Sunset Beach. A resolution authorizing a public auction of the lots, in three groups, was passed, a minimum price of $1 being set. It is expected, because of oil prospects, that the bidding will go considerably above minimum.

Gardner also reported the activities of the water committee. Orange county's waste water problem will be the topic for discussion at a joint meeting of the water district board, the farm bureau water committee and other interested bodies in the near future, he said.

A. D. Smiley reported on the multiplicity of detail attached to keeping records and making periodical reports in connection with the Social Security law, and advised farmers against becoming involved with it.

Pictures Exhibited

Frank Manuel exhibited colored motion pictures of his travels in Vermont and of a recent pack trip which he made in the vicinity of Duck lake.

A nominating committee, including A. A. Schutte, W. M. Small and William Mauerhan, will report at the next meeting.

Fullerton Board In Ruling On Aid

FULLERTON, Sept. 15. — The board of trustees of the Fullerton Union High school last night agreed that if any transfer of students is made either into or out of their district, the ruling of the county superintendent of schools will hold. Under that ruling, the school of attendance receives $88 per pupil as state aid.

This ruling was made after a number of requests had been reported. These requests were from students of the Placentia and Anaheim districts, into Fullerton, and of students living nearer Whittier High school than Fullerton, but in the Fullerton district, desiring to attend the Whittier school.

State Senator Ralph Swing was the guest of honor and principal speaker. Swing spoke on the cooperation of police officers, the lawmakers and citizens in the matter of law enforcement. He told of the change in the type of law enforcement officers in the past few years.

Homer Canfield's RADIOLOGIC

The world will little note, nor long remember what we say here.

Hollywood, September 15—

CONTRARY TO WHAT YOUR
thermometer says, fall is nip in everything but the air. And when fall comes we all know what happens—wears of foot-balls.

Not the least bit unaware of this is the Los Angeles Junior Chamber of Commerce. Just to show you that they're a weather eye on the calendar, the boys are staging their annual football rally tonight at the Mayflower hotel.

The broadcast will bring together such big names as Coaches Howie Jones, Bill Spaulding and Tom Lehr. Among the Pacific Coast conference officials attending will be Jim Blatt and Bruce Kirkpatrick. (KECA, 8:15)

PROGRAM NOTES
Walter O'Keefe is holding up his end (something we wish could say about W. C. Fields on that Sunday afternoon show, but can't) and Town Hall Tonight continues to pack them in.

For Hit Parade has Gertrude Lawrence as guest, and Richard Shimmin's smooth orchestra still makes the hit tunes really sound that way. (KFI, 8)

The President's Cabinet Series brings Charles Edison, assistant secretary of the Navy, to the microphone to discuss the workings of his department. (KNX, 6:30)

Ken Murray, scripty speaking, goes into the department store business. Only tonight and next week to go before this show fades from the air. (KNX, 7:30)

If you can find it possible to weather through Olsen & Johnson's peculiar sense of humor, you have a treat in store with Gertude Niesen's chanteuse of "Carols." It's one of her best. (KFI, 7:30)

Buddy Rogers introduces Benny Rubin as emcee of Script Teasers. The following three weeks Rogers will be in the east personal-appearance. (KJL, 8)

Buck Jones, probably the youngsters' pet screen cowboy, will be heard in conversation with Elm Schaeffer. (KECA, 6)

TOMORROW
Victor Bay, who did such a grand job of the music for Columbia's Shakespearian series, will baton a concert orchestra through Igor Stravinsky's "Apollon Musagete," an infrequently heard ballet. (KNX, 4:30 p.m.)

Eddie Dooley, widely known sports writer, commentator and former all-American quarterback for Dartmouth, brings to the air a new semi-weekly series of football forecasts and summaries. (KNX, 4:30 p.m.)

HERE'S RUCKY VALLEE'S CASE
Maude, young British actress in playlet, "Babes," While Howard, comedian; Helen Shumley, who has the title of "Coast to Ocean Woman Executive of United Airlines"; the Stroud Twins, comedy team, and Tommy Rags and his imaginary little girl friend, Betty Lou. (KFI, 4 p.m.)

Jose Rodriguez will play the recordings of Mendelssohn's Violin Concerto and Brahms' Symphony No. 1 during the Classic Hour. (KECA, 1:45 p.m.)

FLASHES & STUFF
In all probability Ted Pho-Bo will be heard doing the music for the Jack Haley-Virginia Merrill show when it hits the air October 8.

Jessica Dragonette will sing her last Beauty Box Theater role October 6. Friends who should know tell me she'll take this writer's advice and indulge in a much needed vacation.

As forecast here a long time ago, the Jack Benny program, which returns October 3, will boast the same cast as of last season.

Benny arrived in town yesterday after a long absence in Chicago.

So successful were Amory & Andy on that spot with Lanny Ross on the other Tuesday that they'll do a repeat in October, which will no doubt be their last appearance on a program other than their own. As we told you before, the advertising agency handling the boys has turned thumbs down on any others.

Phil Baker, modest chap, will be billed as "The Great American Trouper" when he returns to western districts October 3.

COMMUNITY PLAYERS START REHEARSALS

"FIRST LADY" CAST, OTHERS OPEN PROGRAM

BY ELEANOR YOUNG ELLIOTT

Like entrants in a great relay race, their goal a successful Community Players' season, cast members of "First Lady" are alert and eager to be on their way with rehearsals and preparations for the tentative dates of Oct. 15 and 16, when their part of the race will have been concluded with presentation of the first play on the winter program.

"First Lady" players may then retire to the sidelines, knowing that the relay will be continued by a new cast with a new play. But that is looking several weeks into the future, and in the meantime with the majority of "First Lady" roles assigned, rehearsals got under way last night in The Barn, with Gladys Simpson Shafer as director.

Happy in Choices

To the innumerable club groups who have heard Mona Summers Smith of Santa Ana library staff, review the famous comedy drama by George Kaufman and Katherine Dayton, it would have been unthinkable to have assigned the role of "Lucy Chase Wayne" to any other member of the association.

Quite as happy in their choice for other roles, the casting committee members have been congratulating themselves upon two counts. One is the whole-souled co-operation they are receiving from veteran Players, asked to take part, the other is the valuable "finds" among newcomers. Among the former are "The Steffensons"—Mary Batten and J. Leslie; Julia Ann Hyde, Lula Brackett, Earl Fraser, Arthur Chapman, J. Farley Smith and others.

Character Roles

Among the newcomers to major productions, though not to the community's entertainment stages, are Marian Graaf, Helen Wiessemann, June Arnold, John Tessmann, E. M. Sundquist, Dr. William Lecke, Frank Cooley, and many others.

Miss Graaf, whose glorious voice has brought fame to Orange county, will play "Sophy Prescott," while other parts as assigned are "Emmy Paige," Betty Jane Moore; "Stephen Wayne," J. Leslie Steffenson; "Belle Hardwick," Julia Ann Hyde; "Mrs. Ives," Helen Wiessemann; "Ann Forrester," Mary Batten Steffenson; "Congressman's Wife," Helen Johnson; "The Baroness," Bern West; "Her Friend," Florence Finley; "Senor Ortega," Earl Fraser; "M. Protopescu," John Tessmann; "Mrs. Creevey," Lula Brackett; "Mrs. Davenport," Ethel Macrae; "Senator Keane," Frank Cooley; "Irene Hibbard," June Arnold; "Carter Hibbard," J. Farley Smith; "Ellsworth T. Gan-

Franklin and Smiling Bride Back

It was the former Ethel du Pont, smart in her new Paris creation, who did the smiling for the Franklin D. Roosevelt, Jr., as they strolled along the deck of the S. S. Europa returning from a European honeymoon. The couple will live in a "modest six or seven-room cottage" in Charlottesville, Va., near the University of Virginia, where Franklin will study law.

NEED OF TRAINED WORKERS IN JUVENILE HOMES CITED; CIVIL SERVICE SUGGESTED

YORBA LINDA, Sept. 15.—Children who are called delinquent have sick personalities, according to Mrs. Eva Copeland of Fullerton, who talked at the opening meeting of the Yorba Linda Parent-Teacher association last night.

"These same children, when being trained equal to or better than that of teachers. She said she spent three months at the Orange county juvenile home this summer as vacation relief matron.

New teachers were welcomed. Mrs. Verne Davidson introduced the speaker and the children who presented the entertainment. Patsy Hoben and Bonnie LeBreath played a piano duet and Virginia Davidson danced a tap number.

Committees Named

After the official welcome to the teachers, Mrs. Ross Johnson presided at the business meeting, and named her committees and room mothers, and announced the date for the annual carnival of the P.T.A. as October 9. The theme of the carnival is to be "Mother Goose."

Room mothers will be in charge of the carnival. They are Mrs. E. Thomas, kindergarten; Mrs. Gaillard Paige, first grade; Mrs. A. Woodward, Mrs. E. Bybee, and Mrs. Clodt, second grade; Mrs. E. M. Turner, Mrs. Goodwin, third grade; Mrs. Friend, Mrs. Helmers, and Mrs. D. Gilman, fourth grade; Mrs. R. House, Mrs. Pritchard and Mrs. P. M. Ross, fifth grade; Mrs. Hastings and Mrs. French, sixth grade; Mrs. R. E. Cassidy, Mrs. T. Echeto and Mrs. L. Janeway, seventh grade, and Mrs. Sidney L. Chapman, Mrs. C. G. Teed, Mrs. C. Vernon, Mrs. Murray, and Mrs. Phillip LeBreath, eighth grade.

Committee Chairmen

The chairman for standing committees for the year are: Mrs. Davidson, program; Mrs. P. M. Sparks, hospitality; Mrs. Chapman, publicity; Mrs. S. N. Rosedale, finance; Mrs. Don Munger, magazines; Mrs. Murray, membership; Mrs. George Plumb, parent education; Mrs. J. Committee Chairmen

Many of those gnawing, nagging, painful backaches blame on colds or strains are often caused by kidney trouble which may be relieved when treated in the right way.

The kidneys are Nature's chief way of taking care of the body and removing waste out of the blood. Most people have about 3 pints a day or about 3 pounds of waste.

If the 15 miles of kidney tubes and filters don't work well, poisonous waste matter stays in the blood. These people must start nagging backaches, rheumatic pains, lumbar pains, pep and energy, getting up nights, swelling, puffiness under the eyes, headaches and dizziness.

DOCTOR'S PILLS. As you struggle for Doctor's Pills, used successfully by millions for 40 years. They give happy relief and will help the 15 miles of kidney tubes flush out poisonous waste from the blood. Get Doctor's Pills.

JUDGE SPENCE TO GIVE TALK BEFORE 20-30

FULLERTON, Sept. 15.—Judge H. I. Spence will be the speaker at the meeting of the 20-30 club this evening at Kibbel's cafe. Hal Polley, vice president, will preside in the absence of President Bert Harris, who has gone to San Francisco following the 20-30 convention at Reno the past few days.

The speaker will explain the activities of the lower courts, including the municipal and small claims courts.

Others at the convention were Ralph Layton, a charter member of the Fullerton club and new national president of the 20-30 clubs. Mrs. Layton, Glenn Hamel, Bert Harris, Herbert Maland, Mr. and Mrs. Hal Polley, Butch Orton, Hardin Covey and Adrian La Force. Lyman Packard, of Fullerton, went with the group as a visitor.

Garden Party Is Enjoyed By Club

GARDEN GROVE, Sept. 15.—Members of the Women's Civic club entertained with a lovely garden party recently at the home of Mrs. A. C. Robbins on East Garden Grove boulevard. Joining in the hostess group with Mrs. Robbins were Mrs. R. H. Williams, Mrs. R. A. Wisner and Mrs. J. T. Luchsinger.

Beach umbrellas, lawn swings and the flowers and shrubbery in the garden made a colorful setting for the affair. Thirteen tables were arranged for the bridge games. At the close of the play the winners at each table had their choice of attractive handkerchiefs. Those holding high scores were Mesdames J. A. Williams, Harry L. Lake, J. W. Mitchell, C. L. Clark, Carl Nichols, G. A. Luz, A. J. Kelly, G. A. Ward, W. J. Newsom, Leslie Wright, C. R. George, R. A. Oldfield, and W. A. West. The door prizes were won by Mrs. E. C. Kennard, of Santa Ana, and John W. Mitchell.

Refreshments of punch and wafers were served throughout the afternoon to 60 members and guests.

Plan Centralia P.T.A. Program

P.T.A. officers for the new year are headed by Mrs. R. D. Temple as president, with Mrs. William Porter, vice president; Mrs. Redlich, secretary; Mrs. Shear, treasurer; Mrs. Harold Covey, auditor; and Mrs. Booth, junior past president.

New Owners For Laguna Market

LAGUNA BEACH, Sept. 15.—Messrs. Smith and North, formerly of San Diego, have taken over the meat department in Van's market at Ocean avenue and Coast boulevard, purchasing the interest held by Harry L. Nolan.

Mr. and Mrs. Nolan left yesterday for The Dalles, Ore., where they will make their future home, and where Mr. Nolan will engage in business. Prior to departure, the Nolans were tendered several "bon voyage" luncheons and dinners by various groups of friends, including members of the American Legion and Legion auxiliary.

Beach League To Elect Officers

NEWPORT BEACH, Sept. 15.—At the meeting of the Epworth League of Christ Church by the Sea next Sunday evening, Elmore Hayden will be the leader. After the meeting, fellowship will be held at the home of the Rev. William Hassell, where they will hold an election of officers and discuss the matter of sponsors for the year.

JUNIOR GUILD MEETS

GARDEN GROVE, Sept. 15.—Members of the Junior World Wide guild gathered in the Baptist church bungalow Monday evening for the purpose of sewing on articles to be sent to Alaska. At the business session the president, Miss Helen Brantnall, discussed plans for the year books.

Those attending were the advisor, Miss Betty Lehnhardt, Miss Helen Brantnall, Ruth Lehnhardt, Florence Wickliffe, Bertha McDonald, Wilma Du Frain, Grace Arrowsmith, Frances Buell, Esther Lehnhardt, and Verne Wade.

FALL SEASON OPENED FOR MEMBERS OF WOMAN'S CLUB

BREA, Sept. 15.—With a travologue program outlined for the year, members of the Brea Woman's club Tuesday launched their work with a bon voyage luncheon which was attended by 60 members and guests. Mrs. R. M. Fleisher, serving the second year as president, presided and Mrs. Elmer Guy, program chairman, was in charge of that detail.

Mr. Eva Copeland, newspaper woman of Fullerton, was the guest speaker, her topic being "Adult Complexes and Juvenile Delinquencies." Her urgent need of trained men and women in juvenile detention homes was brought out as Mrs. Copeland related conditions now existing in some such institutions.

Music was supplied by Mrs. Leah Pemberton and three young women from the Pemberton Voice studio in Anaheim. In keeping with the program theme for the year, the numbers given had their setting travologue theme.

WAKE UP YOUR LIVER BILE—

Without Calmed—And You'll Jump Out of Bed in the Morning! Karin' to Go

The liver should go into your body daily. If this bile is not flowing freely, your food doesn't digest.

It just decays in the bowels. Gas bubbles up your stomach. You get constipated. Your bowels are puffed up and you sour, and the world looks punk.

Latexatives are only makeshifts. A mere bowel movement doesn't get at the cause. It just goes along. Carter's Little Liver Pills to get these two pounds of bile flowing freely and make you feel "up and up". Harmless, gentle, yet amazing in making bile flow freely. Get Carter's Little Liver Pills by name. Stubbornly refuse anything else.

Work Started On Laguna Bank Building

LAGUNA BEACH, Sept. 15.—Work on the new $80,000 building of the Bank of America commenced yesterday, under direction of May and Grimwood, general contractors, of Los Angeles. Completion is expected within 90 days. The new edifice, occupying a commanding location at the corner of Coast boulevard and Forest avenue, will have frontages of 30 feet on the boulevard and 90 feet on Forest.

They were addressed by Capt. Fren Jensen and Lieut. D. Luntz, new officers of the Anaheim Salvation Army unit. Oscar Renner is acting as treasurer for the campaign and will accept donations at the S. Q. R. store.

FORMER S. A. MAN IS HELD

Santa Ana police were notified yesterday that Frank R. Gordon, one time resident of Santa Ana, is in jail in Long Beach charged with the attempted burglary of a jewelry store in that city. According to a report from the beach city police, Gordon was caught smacking the window of a jewelry store.

At the time of his arrest, Gordon, according to a report from Long Beach, had property pawn tickets issued by the Marks pawnshop in Santa Ana, in his possession.

Asked to check on Gordon's activities here Santa Ana, police learned the man and his wife lived in Santa Ana during July and August, 1937. They first came to stay with Mrs. Gordon's sister, and remained until Gordon was arrested on a drunk charge and were told to move.

DAY WILL PRESIDE OVER VETS TONIGHT

Officers who were installed two weeks ago will be in charge of tonight's meeting under the auspices of Jack Fisher chapter, Disabled American Veterans of the World War, at the K. C. hall, Charles A. Spurrier, adjutant, announced.

Commander David R. Day will be in charge of the first meeting of the year, succeeding John Cleary, and will be assisted by Ellis W. Gaddis and Claude A. Pullen, vice commanders. Earl B. Hawks, chaplain, and Herbert Thwaites, sergeant-at-arms, Day is expected to announce appointments for the coming year and outline his program and activities to be undertaken.

A large attendance is anticipated to greet the new officers who are predicting a banner year just ahead.

Police News

F. W. Underwood, 1193 West Chestnut street, called police to his home last night when he heard prowlers around the house. The man had disappeared before the arrival of police.

Grant Henderson, 1625 West Fourth street, reported to police that some one had shot two holes in the window of his automobile. The shots apparently had been fired from the street into the car parked in Henderson's driveway, he said.

Sidelights on the early history of Santa Ana and Orange county were presented to the Santa Ana Rotary club at the regular meeting yesterday afternoon by Horace Head, prominent Santa Ana attorney.

Having come to this district in 1878, Head recalled the old-time camp meetings held in the Fountain Valley region that is now a part of Talbot. It was here that Head first heard J. W. Brier, who is said to have preached the first Protestant sermon in Los Angeles.

Wanted: Cows Sans "Moos" Police Say

Charles Phillips, 1104 West Eighth street, told police today he is looking for a couple of cows that have had their "moos" removed. If he can find such animals, he has two cows he will trade for them.

Yesterday police were called to the home of Nathan A. Jacobs, 627 North Shelton street, who complained that the Phillips' cows were causing a disturbance in the neighborhood. Lieut. Charles Walford, who investigated said that the cows were kept in compliance with all health department regulations but that the owner agreed to attempt to secure cows that do not make so much noise.

MADDICK WILL TALK TO KODAK CLUB THURSDAY

Tammis Maddick, whose work with a miniature camera has placed him among the most successful photographers in America, will be the speaker at the monthly meeting of the Orange County Camera Club Thursday night at "The Barn," 300 Mayberry road.

Maddick makes many of the color portraits that appear on the cover of Time magazine.

He also is under almost constant assignment from the All-Year Club for the pictures of California life which appear in that organization's national advertising. Maddick is also chief photographer for Lord & Thomas Advertising agency in this locality. He is an authority on the use of 35 mm. color film.

"The interesting thing to me, to me," says Ted Cook, president of the Orange County Camera Club, "is that he won recognition in a comparatively short time. Like so many Englishmen, he has excellent taste and an intelligent sense of composition. At the same time he is a very advanced and careful worker, technically. He is an authority on methods."

The club's competition Thursday night will call for studies of feet or shoes. Serious camera workers are welcome at meetings which begin at 7:45 p. m.

"7" AND "11" ARE JINXES TO DRIVERS

Neither seven nor 11 was a lucky number for speeders when they appeared before City Judge J. G. Mitchell in court yesterday. The seventh, B. B. Turner of 1005 Killson Drive, Santa Ana, was fined $6 and the eleventh, J. O. Williams of Garden Grove, paid $8 for violating the speed ordinance of the city.

Others who were fined for speeding yesterday were: Myron J. Watanabe, Hollywood, $25; Myron J. Chatam, South Pasadena, $8; Harold Riehle, Route 4 Box 379, Santa Ana, $8; Darrel A. Morton, 2015 Orange avenue, $8; E. A. Cockham, Lancaster, Calif., $8; Robert A. Galletly, Los Angeles, $8; Herbert E. Snider, Ontario, $5; Elmer E. Berglund, San Bernardino, $6; and Francis G. R. Bent, Route 3 Box 100, $8.

George Frederick Handel, composer of "The Messiah," was born on Feb. 23, 1685.

at 401 East Fifth street, reported the theft of a radio from her room, to police last night. She said she had been away from home between 6:15 and 9 p. m. She had left her door unlocked, she told police.

SPORTS WHIRLIGIG

Bill Varga, muscular young wrestler who works professionally under the name of Young Stecher at the Orange County Athletic club, wonders when a man's man. He is big and strong and tough with arms like a blacksmith's and a neck like—well, a neck like a wrestler. But when he stepped up to the concessions booth at the O. C. A. C. after toiling in hot Monday's curtain raiser he couldn't buy a bottle of beer.

"Too young," they told him.

Irvine didn't get anywhere in the Southern California tournament but had the satisfaction of making one of the two runs scored off Glenn (Cab) Calloway, sensational Uplands pitcher, in six tournament games. Ira De Busk's homer accounted for it.

Frank Blair is back on the sport editor's desk at the Long Beach Press-Telegram after a nervous breakdown. Can't blame any sports ed. for having a nervous breakdown, and especially Frank, who is a right guy all the way.

Except for the serious illness that put President Kenneth Morrison on the shelf nearly two months—and still has him watching his p's and q's at Arrowhead—the Santa Ana City league had its most successful season.

The pennant scramble was close and spirited. So was the playoff. The five-game Elks-Montgomery Ward series drew a total attendance of 2558, the sum of $260.80 in dimes, perhaps a City league record.

Strangely enough, the fifth and final contest attracted the smallest turnout, 456. The opener drew $21, the second $58, the third $52, the fourth $57. The final letdown should convince City leaguers, as well as National Divisioners, that nothing (not even softball) has a chance when football arrives.

Through Coaches Bill Cole and John Ward, Tustin and Garden Grove high schools have a non-exclusive agreement.

So do Garden Grove and Anaheim.

The latter arrangement gave Anaheim Coach Dick Glover one of those most embarrassing moments. Glover is a "regular fellow," conscientious and as honest as the day is long. A year or two ago he forgot all about his understanding with Ward and only went to one of Garden Grove's games but chaperoned his whole team. Along about the half he remembered the non-scouting agreement, and was his face red?

There'll be no football at California this season for Bill Greschner, great quarterback of last year's champion Santa Ana Dons.

Stricken with appendicitis a few days after he arrived on the Berkeley campus, Greschner submitted to an emergency operation.

While making a speedy recovery, he has decided to pass up this year's competition.

Coch Bill Cook, for one, is satisfied the operation will clear up some of the trouble that hand-capped Greschner here last fall.

Despite his brilliant season, Bill was plagued with injuries. As I remember it, he did not play at all in the "Big Game" at Fullerton, very little in several of the others.

FULLERTON — Wendell Luther Pickens' new deal Fullerton Yellowjackets are running all over the new east field here like a small army in spite of the blistering heat of these hot September afternoons.

Pickens isn't saying much, yet. But he keeps surveying his squad of 75 perspiring gladiators with the hope of giving Fullerton a winning combination this fall.

At no time in the history of the institution has enthusiasm and the spirit of determination to win been so manifest. Not even general Arthur (Lucky) Nunn was given the backing Pickens is.

A glace at the Yellowjacket roster, however, reveals that Pickens will have a light forward wall and a heavy, hard-charging backfield quartet. This is much to the Arizona-trained mentor's disgust. He planned on a heavy front line defense.

Outside of Big Bill Thaten, 220-pound lineman from Brea-Olinda, and Blair Salmon, 204-pound Whittemer tackle, there aren't any 200-pounders on the team.

While he hasn't said so, Pickens will attempt to make up the weight deficiency through speed and aggressiveness. He indicated as much in this week's practice sessions under the sweltering heat.

Wally Fee's registration brought a smile to the 27-year-old mentor after Wade Brown, 209-pound center upon whom he counted, transferred his activities to Long Beach Monday afternoon.

"This Lee Middleton, a 165-pound halfback from Huntington Park, will bear watching," Coach Pickens said as he explained that the kid can do everything that a coach can hope for in a back.

It was E. Y. Johnson, Huntington Park mentor, under whom Pickens played football at Fullerton high school, that sent the triple-threat ace to the Yellowjacket educational foundry along with Willard Hardin, 190, end, and several other good looking boys.

John Hanna, 165-pound guard who captained his high school team in Cincinnati last year, is a tough little blighter who is destined to win first string honors.

Joe Spitzer, a letterman, brought his brother, Jack, a 150-pound back with him from Portsmouth, O., and seems likely to lose his place to the aggressive "little brother."

George Trimble of York, Pa., may use his 170 pounds to plug the gap in the jacket line.

"Shorty" Smith of Brea-Olinda contributed but one athlete from his last year's squad. That was his captain, Tom Anderson, 185-pound blond tackle, who is destined to follow the footstep of such illustrious Bres stars as Calvin (Toad) Varner and "Bud" Johnson, whose loss ruined Priebe's team last year.

Following is a partial list of Yellowjacket grid prospects:

Ends—El Allison, letterman, 180; Ray Bandel, letterman, 182; Lorraine Beck, frosh (Fullerton), 188; Willard Hardin, frosh (Hunt. Park), 190; Harry Maxwell, letterman, 180.

Tackles—Tom Boyer, frosh (Brea), 185; Don Anderson, frosh (Cincinnati), 170; John Hanna, frosh (Whittier), 145; John Mineo, frosh (Anaheim); John Milton, frosh (Brooklyn), 170; George Tremble, frosh (Park, Pa.), 170; Centers—Bob Hitchcock, frosh (Fullerton), 170; Ralph Pyron, frosh (Fullerton), 170; Carl Swenson, letterman, 185.

Backs—Oliver Bonadure, frosh (Montebello), 177; Jack Bessent, frosh (Downey), 185; Mike DeMarco, letterman, 180; Harry Fae, frosh (Anaheim), 181; Jim Miller, frosh (Whittier), 170; Charles Hale, frosh (Fullerton), 150; Joe Kurtz, letterman, 185; Carol Langley, frosh (Burbank), 180; Mel Larsen, frosh (Anaheim), 180; Lee Middleton, frosh (Hunt. Park), 165.

Jay Moody, frosh (Pas. Robles), 175; Aubrey Minter, frosh (Brooklyn), 170; Harold Newkirk, frosh (Grant Rymal, frosh (Burbank), 185; Jack Spitzer, letterman, 150; Joe Spitzer, frosh (Portsmouth, O.), 170; Ernest Siracusa, frosh (Wunt. Beach), 170; George Tremble, frosh (Clifford Troop, frosh (Hunt. Beach), 180; Gene Wright, frosh (Nebraska), 185; Damon Watson, frosh (Banning), 185.

Of course there are 21 or so other boys out for the team that aren't catalogued, but they may not be content on being cannon fodder and may revolt and jolt some of the favorites out of their favorite spots.

That's football, friend.

Troy May Go Places Using New Stream-Lined Attack

(Following is the second of a series of articles describing Pacific Coast conference football teams. Next: Washington State.)

By RONALD WAGONER
(United Press Staff Correspondent)

LOS ANGELES—The word was out today that the University of Southern California, in an effort to revive football prestige after three lean years, will abandon the off-tackle power system in favor of the wide open game.

Coch Howard Jones has plenty of material romping around in Boyd field practice sessions and it is the belief of Trojan followers that S. C. may go places if the youths can execute properly the many new plays, forwards and laterals, which Jones has placed at their disposal. If not, the Trojans probably will revert to the old-type, straight ahead football.

The Trojans should know their 1937 fate fairly early in the season. They open with tricky College of Pacific Sept. 25 and on Oct. 2 take on the coast champions—University of Washington.

The Husky contest should be the make or break game of the year. A week later Ohio State comes west for an inter-sectional battle. Other games, with no "breathers" included, are Oregon, California, Washington State, Stanford, Oregon State, Notre Dame and U. C. L. A.

Chief candidates for the left half-back position, the "blocking half" of the Jones system, are Phil Duboski, 188, who saw service last year, and Owen Hansen, 187, the shot putter who had experience last year as a running guard. Coye Dunn, a sophomore, was regarded as the outstanding blocking half on the squad, but suffered a severe illness during the summer and may not be able to play.

Wayne Hoffman, 191, a fast and hard-hitting sophomore, appears to have an inside to the right half-back job. He will no doubt share the assignment with Glen Galvin, 177, who played last year, and Mickey Anderson, the University of California sprinter.

Angy Peccianti, 180, who was hurt against Washington State last year, and Dick Berryman, 190, a dependable junior, are the outstanding fullbacks.

Leading linemen among the seniors last June. Veterans will be back for every spot in the line. At center, Toney Tonelli, 216, is the leading candidate. Three other good centers will contest Tonelli for the starting spot.

Johnny Thomassin, 206-pound sophomore, stands out as the leading aspirant for the important running guard berth made famous by All-Americans Johnny Baker and Aaron Rosenburg. Thomassin is a powerful blocker. At standing guard will be Bill Radovich, 208, who was the best lineman on the field against Notre Dame last year.

Don McNeil, 206, and Ray George, 188, appear capable of holding down their first string tackle jobs against last year's subs and freshmen.

The flank positions are the strongest spots on the Trojan grid machine. Jones hardly could ask for a better layout than Capt. "Chuck" Williams, 185; Gene Hibbs, 185; Ralph Stanley, 180, and Ray Wehba, 186. All play smashing defensive games and all can snag the ball against.

Less than an hour after the commission had heard Meade's plea that "I want another chance and if I get it I'll be the best behaved guy you ever saw," a terse announcement of "application denied" was issued by the commission.

The little rider who carried home the colors of Col. E. R. Bradley on Broker's Tip in the 1933 Kentucky Derby, was barred from further riding 18 months ago by the racing commission. He had admitted betting on races in which he participated.

THE GREAT HOG-CALLING CONTEST

WASHINGTON, D. C.—The great Burke's people out in Nebraska might be interested in seeing how he is sending copies of his speeches to Wall Street houses."

Here is no mystery at all. Before his election in 1934 as a supposed New Dealer, Mr. Burke was an able lawyer with a good corporation practice in Omaha. From the beginning of the supreme court fight, he was one senator who could not lose. If he defeated the reform of the federal courts, he would automatically become one of the bosses of the Democratic party and a possible candidate for the presidency in 1940. If he lost the fight and were forced out of office, he would by definition become a friend of every old and reactionary federal judge on the bench. It's a perfect set-up for a large and profitable law-practice on behalf of the Wall Street corporations doing big business in the Mid-West.

Another lady, writing from Atlantic City, simply urges me to "call them all the names, plain and fancy, that you can think of." A lady in Chicago asks, "Why not call them rats?" Rats scuttle the ship and that is exactly what they tried to do."

Another Chicagoan, after toying with "sooth," "Benedict Arnold" and "Ice," says that he "will call them 'insects' (little I). You know the ones." Wheeler, Burke, O'Mahoney, Tydings, Copeland, Clark et al." An Iowa describes them as "Democrats for revenue only." An interested reader in Bowling Green, Ohio, humbly suggests "vacillators" or if you prefer to deal with them as inamates, it might be "vacillators." Either term denotes a "character": to say, very or stagger. Surely the vacillators are the proverbial carless boat on the ragged political sea."

From Philadelphia comes the following bi-partisan baptism for faithless representatives of the people: "For the Democrats—Dumb-mucks; for the Republicans—Re-boob-licans." And a man in New Jersey offers no less than 14 perfectly good choices: "Draggheels, Sneakers, Heel-Druggers, Quackracks, Snivelheads, Tary-Adores, Pink-Heels, Tary-ettes, Shufflers, Heel-Shufflers, Recessioneers, Tootie-Heels, Recidivists, Roundheeler." Why not just "Heels"?

More important than the name applied to these nimble-tongued gentry is the fact that they do not look to the voters but to Wall Street for support in their coming struggle to retain office. For example, Sen. Edward R. Burke of Nebraska, who took a leading part in preventing the reform of the judiciary, has been sending copies of his Constitutional-mongering utterances under senatorial frank to certain Wall Street concerns. Why Wall Street? One of the vice presidents of the Corporation Trust company, 120 Broadway, who received one of Mr. Burke's effusions (printed by the government printing office at private expense) writes me: "Seems to me Senator

STAMP CLUB TO OPEN CAMPAIGN

"Footprint" Burglar Hunted Here

Plans for an intensive membership campaign will be discussed Friday night when members of the Orange County Stamp club meet at 7:30 p. m. in the Weber Bakery assembly room, 2615 North Main street.

Monte Webb, Anaheim, president of the club, said that in addition to planning the membership campaign club members also will arrange programs for the winter.

Members who attend the meetings are urged to bring their trading stamps as a portion of the meeting is devoted to trading stamps and selling them. The selling and trading is open to all members of the organization.

Plans are being developed at this time, according to Webb, for a delegation representing the local organization to attend the Federated Stamp Club meeting to be held at the Santa Monica club in October.

402 RELEASES IN WELFARE ACTION

Correcting statistics published yesterday, stating that 27 liens and mortgages given for county relief had been released, under provisions of the new welfare law, County Welfare Director Jack W. Snow today stated that a total of 402 releases had been made.

There were 27 instruments before the supervisors, he explained, but each included a large group of releases. Instead of only three properties being in Orange county, as stated, there were 313, with 66 in other counties of the state, mostly in Los Angeles, Riverside and San Bernardino counties. Only 13 are located outside the state.

STORY OF THE CONSTITUTION

No. 1.—"How the Constitutional Convention Was Called"

After the War for Independence had been won, Americans soon became dissatisfied with the Articles of Confederation they had set up to govern themselves. It was a very loose union, almost like a tiny "league of nations" joining the 13 independent colonies into a league, but with no power to levy taxes, regulate commerce, or even to coin money. The map shows how the country looked in 1787.

Editor's Note: This month the entire country is celebrating the 150th anniversary of the making and adoption of the federal constitution. This great document is being discussed today as it has been discussed on few occasions in the nation's history. The Register here presents the first of a series of six daily pictures which give the essential history of the constitution in simple terms and graphic pictures. The text is by Willis Thornton, and illustrations by Ed Gunder.

MAY DISSOLVE TRI-COUNTIES ORGANIZATION

Dissolution of the Tri-Counties Reforestation committee which has functioned since 1907, is favored by the majority of Orange county members, according to Horace Head.

Head said that every member of the Orange county group has received letters from Chairman Francis Cuttle asking for individual opinions as to whether or not the group should be disbanded.

Dissolution Favored

The Orange county group, Head said, favors dissolution principally because the state and federal governments have taken over the duties of the committee in the past few years and there is no longer any need for the organization.

Meeting Slated

The general purpose of the committee has been to prevent destruction of the watershed cover of the Santa Ana river and its tributaries and to secure state and federal aid in this work. A similar vote on disbanding is being taken in Riverside and San Bernardino counties.

Head pointed out that, during the past three years the committee has not been active except for annual meetings and routine business. No levies have been made for carrying on the work of the association in that time and lack of funds in the treasury brought about the dissolution of the committee's dissolution.

Meeting Slated

Unless a majority of members indicate their preference in the matter of dissolution, immediately, a meeting will be held in Riverside October 8, at which time the question will be brought before the advisory body.

Head said that the state has established numerous lookout stations and the federal forest service has increased its stations. In addition there are 20 state fire trucks stationed near the base of the San Bernardino mountains and federal trucks are stationed within the reserve.

The brontosaurus grew to a length of 60 feet and attained a weight of 30 tons.

The ant pest is particularly aggravating at this time of year, according to Farm Advisor Harold E. Wahlberg.

The University of California has just issued a new circular on the control of various kinds of ants in response to the heavy demands for information on this subject.

CALLING ● all DOGS

By Albert Payson Terhune

DOGS WINS AS CONGRESS LOBBYIST

A bill came up before a sub-committee in Congress, last spring, to grant free rides on all railroad trains to dogs which are used to guide the blind. The bill found favor with the sub-committee, largely through the "lobbying" of a big young police dog named Rex.

Rex's blind master, Dr. H. E. Clause, of Arlington, Va., was at the hearing as a witness. He brought Rex along. The dog lay, most of the time with a gently protective manner, at the feet of the master he had led into the committee-room. Once or twice, wearying of the dull legal proceedings, he rolled on his back, waving his legs, and eying the committee-men roughly over the top of his head.

He stiffened angrily—no doubt because of the tone in his master's voice—as Dr. Clause told of having to ride with the dog in a baggage car, because Rex was denied a place in a Pullman compartment.

Then, gravely, Rex got up and strolled across to Chairman A. L.

SWEET POTATO OUTLOOK GOOD, SAYS REPORT

POEMS OF TWO S. A. WRITERS TO BE IN CROWN ANTHOLOGY

Inclusion of their poems in anthologies may be getting to be more or less commonplace to two Santa Ana writers, Beulah May and Mina Shafer (Mrs. Robert R. Shafer) but it is not commonplace to their friends. Each new recognition accorded the two is met with keenest interest among those who have watched the development of their talents.

Now announcement comes that given opportunity to take part in both Miss May and Mrs. Shafer the prize contest, involving $250 in awards, with a first prize of $50.

Rules governing the contest, both for recognition in the anthology and in the prize awards, are that original poems (unpublished if possible) under 32 lines are desired.

There are no restrictions as to theme, style or number of contributions. All entries must be postmarked not later than November 15, 1937.

The whirligig beetle has each eye divided into two parts; one seeing above water, and the other for seeing below the surface.

Booths and games will be the feature of the program and the funds raised will be for improvements at the school.

Mrs. George Ravenkamp, president of the school's P.T.A. and her committee are assisting Father O'Brien in arranging the program.

ORANGE COUNTY 4-H MEMBERS PLAN EXHIBITS

Orange County 4-H club members today were busy putting finishing touches on exhibits for the Pomona Fair, which opens Friday morning.

Club members received a large number of blue ribbons at the 1936 fair, besides four silver loving cups and are determined to do better this year. Seven clubs are entering feature booth exhibits which illustrate a phase of club work or club activity.

Livestock Entries

These booths will be entered by the following clubs: Humming Birds of Katella; Sunlist Girls of Olive, Olive Hillbillies, Tustin Livewires, La Habra Cackles and Root Club; Sandwax Club of Anaheim, and Katella Farmers.

Garden Grove, Laguna Beach and La Habra had all been recommended for new post offices in a report sent to the house appropriations committee earlier this year by the treasury department. The proposed estimates of cost for the projects were: Garden Grove and La Habra, $70,000 and Laguna Beach, $80,000.

Up until

this year, congress has authorized at each session enough money to cover the federal building program for the following year.

This year, however, a three-year $70,000,000 program was authorized. Only $23,000,000 for new buildings was actually appropriated, but the treasury and post office departments were told to frame their three-year program, get it under way, and come back to congress for more money next year and the year after, to make up the full $70,000,000.

Shelving of the Garden Grove, Laguna Beach and La Habra projects, under this order of things, does not mean the need for new buildings in those cities is no longer recognized, but simply that $70,000,000 worth of more urgent projects were found, officials said.

Color For Rooms

Eight clubs which are carrying clothing and home furnishing projects are contributing 150 entries. Eight outstanding wool suits, coats and skirts from fourth phase members, while dresses, sleeping garments and underwear made by the girls of the younger groups will be entered.

Eleven girls who are interested in the home furnishing work will exhibit various articles to be used in making bedrooms colorful and attractive as well as more easily cared for. Some of this work shown will be articles of bedding, blanket protectors, garment protectors, laundry bags, wall pockets, hat stands and sets of cleaning materials. High standards of workmanship are maintained and each girl strives to carry her projects to completion.

4-H agricultural clubs will include Guernsey and Holstein calves; Hampshire, Chester White and Berkshire pigs; turkeys, rabbits, ducks, and several varieties of poultry.

Crop entries will include tomatoes, green beans, popcorn, melons, peppers, squash, onions, carrots, and sweet potatoes. There will also be three entries of orange honey and two entries of bees.

ENROLLS AT ACADEMY

FULLERTON, Sept. 15.—William MacNamee, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ira MacNamee, has opened his high school work as a student of the Culver Military academy.

ST. JOSEPH'S TO PRESENT FIESTA

A school fiesta and carnival will be staged at the St. Joseph parochial school tomorrow from 2 until 10 p. m., it was announced today by Father Francis O'Brien, general chairman of the entertainment committee.

Rules governing the contest, both for recognition in the anthology and in the prize awards, are that original poems (unpublished if possible) under 32 lines are desired.

Dinner Marks Calendar For Y. W. Members

Coming as the first major event on the fall calendar for members of Santa Ana Y. W. C. A. will be a membership meeting Tuesday evening, September 28 at 7 o'clock in Church of the Messiah dining room, where dinner will be served to precede a program.

Plans for the affair were announced Monday evening at a meeting of the Y. W. board in the association rooms, where the President, Mrs. W. D. Guthrie was in the chair. Mrs. H. J. Howard, membership chairman, discussed plans for the annual event. Mrs. Aubrey Glines, education chairman, reported on program plans, announcing that Mrs. Homer T. Miller, after worship service to be held at 5:45 o'clock in Church of the Messiah.

Board members discussed other plans for the year, and adopted a policy whereby the clubrooms will be at the disposal of organizations other than the Y. W., with non-profit groups and young people's clubs given preference over other organizations.

Although the rooms have been open to various groups in the past, they have not been given the extensive use that they will in the future, now that the furnishings program has been effected at the Y. W., it was said.

The board endorsed the approved household service demonstration school, and the endorsement will be sent to F. P. Jayne at W. P. A. headquarters in this community.

Miss Margaret Fine talked briefly on her experiences at Osceola, Torquay and Asilmorar, and thanked the board members for their part in sending her to these camps.

Announcement was made that the Y. W. will be sponsor of a public speaking class to be conducted by Mrs. M. E. Geeting, beginning October 12 in the clubrooms.

Under auspices of adult education department, a civics affairs class will open at the Y. W. Thursday, September 28 at 9 a.m.

Dr. Mabel Geddes, who was welcomed as a new member of the board, will take Miss Boyd Johnson's place. Mrs. George Angine's resignation as house chairman was accepted with regret and she was accorded a vote of thanks for her work on the furnishings' committee.

Delta Theta Chi Are Party Hostesses

Extending a pleasant hospitality to several guests, Delta Theta Chi sorority members entertained at a pledge party Monday evening in Anaheim where the chapters "rum-pus" room in the yard of the Lotus Loudon home was rendezvous for the group. Miss Mildred Loudon was hostess.

Miss Dorothy Jesse and Miss Lerone McFarren won prizes for first and second high scores in court whist. Refreshments were served at tables appointed with combination candelabra and nutcups designed with the sorority insignia. Green and gold was the decorative color scheme.

Guests were the Misses Ella Nelson, Daisy Carr, Catherine Walbridge, Margaret Wilson, Rachel Jones, Mary Bowyer, Marjorie Livesey, Adeline Lopstein, Ruth Wagner, Vivian Chandler and Mrs. Warren Bramley. Members present were the Misses Leone Baxter, Ann Detweller, Frances Hill, Dorothy Jesse, Norma Jean Kennedy, Jeanette Leikhus, Mildred Loudon, Lerone McFarren, Irene Ross, Virginia Taylor, Betty Vorce, Marjorie Walton, Alice Whitten and Mesdames T. E. McLeod and Helen Lee Goldsmith.

Meeting

Installing officers and making plans to take part in county and state W. C. T. U. conventions this fall, members of Santa Ana W. C. T. U. met yesterday afternoon in Spurgeon Memorial church. Mrs. Emilie Means took over the duties of president.

Mrs. Effie Nicholson conducted the ceremony, during which the following members assumed their duties: Mrs. Means, president; Mrs. Adaline Hershiser, Mrs. Artie Warner, Mrs. Linnie Cruzen, vice presidents; Mrs. René Gibson, recording secretary; Mrs. A. McGargin, assistant recording secretary; Mrs. Mina Tidball, corresponding secretary; Mrs. Edith Vose, treasurer; Miss Elizabeth Wyant, assistant treasurer; Mrs. J. E. Kellogg, auditor.

Announcement was made that Orange County W. C. T. U. will hold a convention September 30 and October 1 in Fullerton First Baptist church, 216 East Wilshire Avenue. All members attending will be considered delegates, it was announced. State convention will take place October 12, 13, 14 and 15 in Santa Monica. Local delegates named were Mesdames Adaline Hershiser, Edith Vose, Leonie Leonard, Artie Warner and Edna Leonard.

For the purpose of organizing a Youth's Temperance Council, a committee composed of Miss Betty Corn, Miss Elizabeth Wyant and Mrs. R. L. Lutes will meet Friday evening in the home of Mrs. Lutes, 812 South Garnsey street.

Mrs. Nannie Judd, vice president, conducted the meeting, for which Mrs. Laura Leonard gave devotional. Mrs. M. E. Geeting spoke on behalf of the Community Chest, and asked for speakers to help carry on the campaign. Those who will assist are asked to meet with Chest officials Monday evening at Elks hall.

Mrs. Kuhn spoke on the Toy Library, to which the W. C. T. U. has voted to contribute $8 each month.

Announcement was made that the Union's meetings for the new year will be held in First Congregational bungalow. A vote of thanks was tendered trustees of Spurgeon Memorial church for the use of the church during the year just drawing to a close.

The corporate body of the W. C. T. U. met at the call of the president, Mrs. Effie Nicholson, electing a staff composed of Mrs. Nicholson, Miss Elizabeth Wyant, Mrs. Emma Roberts, Mrs. Edith Osborne, Mrs. Cruzen, Mrs. Tidball and Mrs. Edna Leonard. Officers will be elected from this group.

Handkerchief Shower Given for Club Member

Miss Estelle Schlesinger, who plans to leave soon for a vacation trip to San Francisco was showered with handkerchiefs Monday evening during a bridge club meeting in the home of Mrs. Bert Hoffman, 805 South Ross street.

In the group with the hostess and the honoree were members including Mesdames Albert Banks, Burley Melvin Durbin, Perry Davis, Lawrence Haupert and the Misses Gertrude Haupert, Irene Ravenkamp and Bertha Borchard, members; with Mrs. Joseph Knox, Miss Betty Jane Moore and Miss Lucile Howells.

Chocolate sundaes and wafers were served at the close of card play in which Mrs. Banks and Miss Haupert held the two highest scores.

Autumn's Modes Reviewed For Ebell Society Party

Although the clubwoman of today is earnest in her desire to advance steadily in a cultural and esthetic sense, she yet retains all her femininity, as was proven by the delightfully feminine manner in which Ebell Society of Santa Ana Valley yesterday opened its new club year.

For bridge play, friendly chat and a style revue were combined in the program plans of the clubwomen, the whole gay and brilliant affair culminating with that most feminine of all social gestures, a tea.

The occasion served as a reunion of club friends after touring, vacationing and all the varied interests of the Southern summer months. It also served as Mrs. W. S. Thompson's first definite meeting of her presidential regime. She was a very charming general hostess, in an airy frock of embroidered organdy in a cream tone veraging on ochre shades.

Quite as charmingly gowned were her aides, including Mrs. Hugh Shields, chairman of the bridge-playing division; Mrs. T. A. Winbigler and Mrs. J. C. Horton, in charge of the patio party for non-bridge playing guests, and all who had prominence in different phases of the afternoon. Bridge tables were grouped in the peacock room where play was under direction of Mrs. Sara Johnston Haddon. Prizes of luscious home-made cakes went to the lot of Mesdames Robert Steinberger, Stanley Norton, Helen Anderson and Wendell Finley, with the four high bridge scores, and to Mrs. Robert E. Coulter and Mrs. Perry F. Schrock among the patio party guests.

In the interval between bridge and tea, the fashion revue was presented under chairmanship of Mrs. Howard Timmons. The Rankin Drygoods store offered this style parade, which everyone declared was one of the outstanding events of its kind ever held in Santa Ana. "Inspirations for Autumn" was the manner in which the revue was presented, and with Rose Marie Flint, violinist, and Mary Bruner Ferrey, pianist, to provide the musical background, the whole affair was given a setting in keeping with the costumes. Fine rugs for the models to walk on, were laid by the Ludum company, and the stage from which each moved in turn, was altogether lovely. Mrs. Timmons was aided by Mrs. Wilbur Barr, Mrs. Fred Forsy and Miss Linda Griffith in designing the setting, and George Spielman, advertising manager of Rankin's, aided in putting the plans into execution. The scene was definitely autumnal—but the autumn that suggests exciting things, football games, Country club dances, November house-parties. One great branch of a tree flung its scarlet and golden leaves across the stage and everyone was delighted to know that the leaves were real, no weak paper imitation.

From this point, the models, including various Ebell and Junior Ebell members, paced in sports-wear, street outfits and afternoon frocks; lounging robes and house-coats for intimate afternoons at home, and bewildering succession of formal gowns for dining and dancing. Models included Iris Ashton, Mrs. Leonard Swales presided at the big silver urns, the long table was spread with Italian lace and embroidered linen. Gladioluses ranging from pale ivory to apricot, were in stylized arrangement in a big ivory bowl flanked by tall silken tapers, repeating the flower colors. In the section room where Mrs. Enrys D. White, the table was spread with point de Venise lace in deep coffee color. On it were spaced heavy silver candlesticks, whose yellow candles accentuated the touch of yellow in prim French bouquets of pompon dahlias, laid flat in matched silver compotes.

Pile the fried seasoned rice in a shallow hot dish, cover top with additional thin slivers of chicken, ham or pork, more sliced green onions and egg done this way:

While your largest skillet is heating with a spoonful of butter, beat two eggs, lightly with 2 tablespoons of water. Float eggs over the hot skillet, flatten with spatula while they cook, take up (folded) and cut into thin ribbons. Shake out and sprinkle over rice. Serve with a cream chicken gravy.

Be sure the rice is thoroughly washed before boiling. Squeeze with hands through many waters until the last water looks clear, then boil.

Cinnamon Nuts

1 cup sugar mixed with 1-2 teaspoon powdered cinnamon 1-8 teaspoon cream of tartar 1-4 cup boiling water 1-1/2 cups halved walnut meats 1-2 teaspoon vanilla

Contributed.

Bake sugar, cinnamon, cream of tartar and water until it will form a firm ball in cold water. Draw off the fire, add the walnut meats and cool. Add the vanilla and stir until the syrup "sugars." Turn onto a tray and break the nuts apart.

This would be a delicious new confection to serve for your first Autumn party. I think candied grapefruit straws would go beautifully with the nuts.

Thursday: Tomato Salad Dressing. Green Tomato Mined meat, delicious and delicate of flavor. Make it now.

MISS ULRICH PRESIDES AT CRYSTAL SHOWER FOR BRIDE-ELECT

Once again the attractive Lemon Heights home of Mr. and Mrs. E. E. Ulrich has been opened for a pretty party, this time for a bridal shower at which Miss Florence Ulrich entertained Monday night in compliment to Miss Esther Vogt, fiancee of Ralph Gordon. The marriage date of the young couple will take place September 26.

Oriental rice cakes and their silks of paper foretelling the future, are always intriguing, but when they foretell a wedding, as was the case last night when Miss Helen Demetriou entertained her bride club, then they become of far greater interest.

The hostess had chosen whoopee as the game of the evening. Since the affair was a crystal shower for the honoree, Miss Ulrich had selected her prize awards to correspond with this theme. Crystal gifts went to Miss Vogt and to Miss Edna Ebersole, who held high and low scores.

A clever plan had been devised for presentation of shower gifts to the bride-elect, staged amidst the dahlia and asters gracing the Demetriou home, 1638 East Fourth street. Because arrangement of flowers was in the Oriental mood, and that theme appeared in various details of the evening, it was no surprise to find bridge prizes all from the Orient. China and wood-carving were the gifts won by Mrs. Dean Benton, Mrs. Carleton Smith and Mrs. Clyde Higgins, with greenery to form a background for the bride in her lustrous satin gown. Tapers flickered on large candelabra which framed the lovely scene.

There were the wedding marches of tradition played by Mrs. J. Albert Dennis, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Albert Dennis, 501 Wisteria Place, and it was in the family home that the wedding took place. Flowers in delicate pastel colors were mingled with greenery to form a background for the bride in her lustrous satin gown. Tiaras decorated the home for the occasion. Other events of the evening were followed by the serving of refreshments.

Present with the hostess trio were Miss Virginia Walbridge and her sister and mother, Miss Catherine Walbridge, with Mrs. B. B. Walbridge, with Miss Pauline Riley, another sister of the valley encircled the sheaf of bride roses she carried. The lucky coin in her satin slipper, and a quaint old bracelet set with blue stones, loaned by one of her aunts, Mrs. Frank Bennett of Arizona, were details of her costume.

Miss Dennis, given in marriage by her father, wore with her grace-suit satin gown, a finger-tip veil, its halo effect caught with orange blossoms. Lilies of the valley encircled the sheaf of bride roses she carried. The lucky coin in her satin slipper, and a quaint old bracelet set with blue stones, loaned by one of her aunts, Mrs. Frank Bennett of Arizona, were details of her costume.

Miss Ruth Dennis, her sister's honor maid, wore pink rosebuds with her smart frock of pale blue silk moire. Mr. Clark had as his best man, his brother, Frank Clark. The wedding service was read by the Rev. Floyd Thompson, pastor of Southside Church of Christ.

Madman's Island

CHAPTER XVIII
AS the four pressed forward, the glow ahead took form. It was a vertical thread of light perhaps seven or eight feet high, such as might come from a badly fitted door. Tom rushed toward it, leaned hard with his shoulder.

"This is it!" he cried. "Give me a hand, Mac."

As DeWitt Montgomery lunged in fanatical anger toward Kay, Grant had thrust himself between them. There was no chance to imprison the madman's arms, and in a flash the revolver was out of his pocket.

The detonation of the shot filled the little room, followed by Kay's piercing scream—but Montgomery, in his wild hatred, missed wide. Again Harper rushed, plugging through the acrid smoke and clutching his assailant's revolver wrist with both hands.

That slight figure possessed amazing strength. With a movement of his arm he whirled Harper sharply against the table, striking mercilessly with his free hand. Back against the shelves of books, Kay watched frantically for an opening. She realized that while Grant Harper was younger and more fit, Montgomery had the power of the mad. And he still held to that menacing revolver.

Suddenly she felt a pressure against her back, as though the shelves of books were moving outward! Then she was virtually pushed away by a sudden shove from them. Amazed, she turned to see two strange young men rush in through the opening—and, beyond, the frightened faces of Melita and Priscilla!

WHILE the rescuers pinned Montgomery's arms behind him and wrested away his weapon, Melita and Priscilla ran joyfully toward Kay.

"Are you all right?"

She nodded weakly. "Y—yes." Fearful in his rage, Montgomery was threatening at the top of his lungs. As Tom Forrest thrust him into a chair he glared savagely. "I should have killed you up there behind the cabin—instead of waiting. And I'll do it yet." His eyes burned into them all. "I'll kill every one of you."

Forrest grinned. "Not now you won't, old man." He turned to Mac and Harper. "Keep an eye on him and I'll scare up some rope. I move we truss him like a wildcat and take him aboard the yacht to the nearest office of the law!"

"Not a bad idea," agreed Harper, wiping his perspiring face.

He looked at the section of book shelves which Mac and Tom had swung open. "But wait a minute,

Tom. I think there's another one of those trick doors on the other side of the room—and someone behind it. Watch Mr. Montgomery there while Mac and I have a look."

Harper walked toward the spot where he and Kay had detected sounds beyond the wall. Picking up a fire iron from the hearth he pried between the joints while Mac tugged at one of the shelves. It opened as had the other, but at first they could see nothing beyond.

Then as the light of the library seemed to permeate the blackness they witnessed a strange sight. A young woman crouched in a corner of a mere cubicle of a room. She seemed dazed with pain, and as the door opened she hardly did more than raise her eyes.

"It's the woman we saw in the cabin!" cried Kay. "She's not dead!" Kay ran to the wounded figure, stooped quickly. "Hurry! Let's take her aboard the boat!"

HALF an hour later Grant Harper entered the brightly lighted cabin of the "Mistral," rubbing his hands with satisfaction.

"That little laboratory room in the forecastle makes a swell brig," he grinned. "Mr. Montgomery will be quite safe and comfortable there until we can turn him over to the proper authorities."

Kay Dearborn got up from her chair by the settee where the injured woman lay. "She's going to be all right."

"You're sure?"

Kay took his arm. "Yes. What she needs now is sleep." They left the cabin, went out onto the cool deck of the "Mistral."

"I can't understand how we ever found her alive," Harper said.

"We found her none too soon. Montgomery was been very pleasant for a while—just as he played charming host to us. Then we were all. "I'll kill every one of you."

Forrest grinned. "Not now you won't, old man." He turned to Mac and Harper. "Keep an eye on him and I'll scare up some rope. I move we truss him like a wildcat and take him aboard the yacht to the nearest office of the law!"

"Not a bad idea," agreed Harper, wiping his perspiring face.

He looked at the section of book shelves which Mac and Tom had swung open. "But wait a minute,

Tom. I think there's another one of those trick doors on the other side of the room—and someone behind it. Watch Mr. Montgomery there while Mac and I have a look."

Harper laughed. "Last time I noticed them they were sitting on the after deck with Tom and Mac." He took her by the shoulders, turned her squarely around to face him. "If a skipper's crew falls in love, what does the skipper do?"

"They can't fall in love," Kay said. "That would be mutiny."

"And if I insisted that your 'Chinook' follow the 'Mistral' for the rest of the cruise—would be piracy?"

"I don't know," smiled Kay Dearborn happily. "But I like the idea!"

They sauntered off to where the others sat watching the first faint streaks of dawn.

"I'm afraid," said Harper, "that we're not going to get much work done for the rest of the trip, boys. We've been assigned to protect the 'Chinook'."

"Sounds like a brilliant thought," mentioned Mac, and his brother was quick to second it.

"It lists good to me, too," said Priscilla. "As a navigator, Kay can steer a ship into an awful lot of trouble?"

"How about you, Melita?"

"Aye, aye, sir. But you've got to be the one who tells Jim Pike what happened!"

Kay Dearborn looked at Grant.

"Then we're all agreed. You know, we came on this cruise because we wanted a 'different' vacation. Here's hoping that the rest of it isn't quite as different."

But in her heart she knew that it was going to be different, indeed—so different that it would change the world for her forever after.

THE END

You and Your Friends

Mr. and Mrs. R. L. Hedley, 1720 West Sixth street, who have been in the garage business for 14 of the 18 years they have lived in Santa Ana, are moving this week to their ranch home at Vista. Waltham watches are carried all over the world. Celebrating about their 55th anniversary this year, Walthams are traditionally an American watch. The traditions of our country are wound around them . . . with the Union troops during the Civil war, with Yankee troops during the Mexican war, and in the latest World war . . . America's oldest watch makers . . . universally known throughout the world. They were the only company big enough to be leaders in the price reduction aimed to compete with European watches. Waltham prices are lower . . . better . . . finer. MR. TROTTER knows the WALTHAM watch. He was with Waltham for 10 years. Go in and hear about them.

STORIES IN STAMPS

SOMEWHERE between the deep Siberian forests and the vast Mongolian desert, in a valley just north of the Tannu mountains, lies tiny Tannou Touva, said to be the smallest republic in the world. There the Uriankhai or "forest dwellers" have long roamed in peace, their very existence known only to a few Russian traders and government agents.

Hidden away in their valley domain, these people, resembling the round-faced, slant-eyed Mongolians to the south and east of them, eke out a lazy day-to-day livelihood with their deer herds. The animals are tame and as a result the Uriankhai spends most of his time lounging about his tepee. Only the offspring of the deer need special care and the women provide that.

Animal of manifold uses is the deer of Touva. Milk, meat and skins are his basic contributions. When the Uriankhai goes hunting he uses the deer for transportation and even Touva liquor is crudely distilled from fermented deer milk.

Tannou Touva, the land that time forgot, is mapped on a 1927 stamp of that republic.

CHAPTER I
THE soap slid over the edge of the tub and across the bathroom floor, three feet beyond the reach of the tub's lovely occupant.

"Darn!" said Cilly, (Priscilla, to you, Miss Priscilla Pierce, of the late Bensonhurst Pierces.)

She slithered down to the edge of the tub and reached again. With two strong fingers, she grasped the soap, only to have it slide another yard toward the door.

"Darn!" she said again. Then to herself: "If I have to get out of this tub, I'm out for good."

Somewhere in the night a church clock struck. Cilly listened, counting the strokes. "Twelve o'clock," she murmured. "I'm going to bed."

She remembered that she had a full morning's work ahead of her the next day, if she was to finish that Harvey brief by noon. And she was never her best on Monday morning. Tomorrow would be no exception.

She jumped out of the tub, rescued the slippery soap and returned it to its cubicle above the tub. Then with a huge Turkish towel she rubbed her tall slim body until it glowed.

"If Amy Kerr had one iota of sense," she was thinking all the while, "she wouldn't have suggested another rubber of bridge at 11 o'clock. Nor would she be up on the roof now airing her blue dress! Airing her dress, my grandmother. She's never been so fussy before. What made her want to go up on the roof at 12 o'clock?"

Cilly grabbed her pajamas from the hook on the bathroom door and jumped into them unceremoniously. Amy might at least have realized that it was nerve-wracking to have the door unlocked when one was taking a bath. But tonight Amy was certainly inconsiderate.

"I won't be a minute, Cilly. . . . I'm just going up on the roof to air this blue dress so that I can wear it tomorrow. It smells like a gasoline station now. . . . Leave the door open, that's a dear."

WELL, it certainly was a long minute. More like 20.

Cilly went into the bedroom they shared together and sat down at the frilled dressing table. This was the moment of the daily hair-brushing—100 strokes. It wasn't all accident that Cilly's dull auburn hair shone so richly.

Seven, eight, nine, ten. . . .

Just a minute, to air this blue dress. Tommorrow! Cilly was thoroughly annoyed at Amy Kerr tonight. And not a little annoyed at herself for being such a jealous fool. It wasn't as if Amy was a different person by nature. She wasn't. She was a peach. In the two months they had shared the apartment, Cilly and Amy had grown as close as sisters.

Cilly had been doubtful at first about taking a strange girl in to share her home, but she had never regretted doubling up with Amy Kerr. And with expenses just about cut in half, they were already planning a trip to the West Indies that winter. That is, if nothing happened in the meantime.

a girl to marry him. She could well afford to be patient.

Seven, eight, nine, sixty. . . .

Or could she?

FOR the first time since she had known Jim, she felt a little twinge of uncertainty. These past few months it had been just Jim and she—just the two of them together. Dancing at the French Casino. Swimming at Jones Beach. Looping the loop at Coney Island. Cooking hot dogs over a campfire at Hillside Park. Holding hands at the Paramount. Stealing a kiss downstairs in the vestibule. . . . just two people in all New York. Cilly Pierce and Jim Kerrigan.

Until tonight.

Until this very evening when she had suggested to Amy that they invite their respective beauties for a quiet Sunday evening.

"So we can all get to know each other better," she had said to Amy. "Four people can have so much more fun together than just two."

Well, they certainly got to know each other better. Jim and Amy, at any rate. You'd have thought they'd known each other all their lives. The way Amy's eyes lighted up when she introduced them . . . the where-you've-been-all-my-life look that Jim gave Amy. . . .

Seven, eight, nine, eighty. . . .

It was just too bad she couldn't have gone for Amy's date in the same spirit. Harry Hutchins. A loud-mouthed, conceited fool. The sort who can always tell the other fellow how to play bridge. A wise guy.

Cilly marveled that a girl like Amy could have stood his company for one evening. Amy was highly attractive—a girl with charm and poise and good breeding. Surely she could see through the bluff that was Harry Hutchins.

But apparently she didn't. To all appearances, she was completely gone on him. Why, if two days passed without her hearing from him, she'd call him at his hotel. It made Cilly mad.

Once she remarked about it to Amy, not that she had any right to comment. But Amy was such a good-hearted soul; she'd never realize when someone was giving her a raw deal.

"Let him chase you," Cilly had said. "There's more zest to a man when you keep him guessing."

But Amy had just shrugged. "Don't worry about me, Cilly," she replied. "You don't understand this affair between Harry and me."

NO, Cilly didn't understand it. But she understood Harry Hutchins. Only to well. He was the answer to every maiden's prayer—at least he thought so. And poor Amy was just another girl who had fallen prey to his deadly charm.

Cilly knew that Harry had other interests. In greener fields. It was no secret that Harry Hutchins was making a heavy play for Gloria Harmon, whose father had left her a string of chain stores. The Brooklyn rotogravure sections printed photographs of them together—at the races, at the smartest supper clubs in Manhattan, at the Harmon estate on Long Island. Even tonight, he had boasted of spending the previous week-end "down at Harmony Hall."

But all this went over poor Amy's head. Either she had not bit of jealousy in her makeup, or she had a forlorn hope that in time she could win her precious Harry back.

Seven, eight, nine, one hundred. . . .

Cilly put the brush down. Perhaps that was it. Perhaps Amy had been so especially sweet to Jim this evening just to make Harry jealous. Cilly couldn't blame her for that.

However, that didn't explain this going up on the roof. And spending half an hour up there.

It wasn't pleasant up on the roof at midnight, not unless the moon rode high in a cloudless sky. Tonight it was cloudy, and there was no moon. It would be terrifying all alone up there!

WATKINS BACK IN S. A. POST

Well-known in Santa Ana and Orange county, a man who first entered the shoe business in this city more than 18 years ago, today was ready for a "come-back".

He is Chester A. Watkins, who in 1919 opened a large shoe store at Fourth and Sycamore streets after having been in the business for nearly 22 years previously. He continued at the local place until 1931. Today it was announced that Watkins will be manager of Taylor's Footwear, a new corrective and orthopedic shoe store at 306 1/2 West Fourth street, which will have its formal opening tomorrow.

The store will feature women's and children's shoes exclusively," Watkins said, "and will be a corrective shop with professional fittings."

Commenting upon his return to Santa Ana, Watkins said: "It is a pleasure to be among my old friends of Orange county again. And I feel with my present lines of orthopedic footwear, some of which I carried when in business in Santa Ana before, and my many years of shoe fitting experience and active association with prominent foot surgeons, places Taylor's Footwear shop in a position to render an outstanding service to this community and one that we are confident will be highly appreciated."

A free port was once authorized on Staten Island by Congress.

New British Star to Play In 'Tovarich'

BY PAUL HARRISON
NEA Service Staff Correspondent

HOLLYWOOD, Sept. 15 — You know what Englishman often will say when you're introduced — "Charming, I'm sure!"

Well, that's what Isabel Jeans said to Hollywood, and Hollywood is replying in kind. The screen colony really is charmed by Miss Jeans because she is such an eminently distinguished actress and such a regular person. So frank. Quite!

When she came here to flutter in Warner Brothers' "Tonight's Our Night," the film version of "Tovarich," Miss Jean answered many questions with composure and, voluntarily revealed that she is a charter member—the Claude Rains matrimonial guild.

She was the first of Mr. Rains' five wives. They were divorced in 1918, and for 17 years she has been the wife of Gilbert Edward Wakefield, the noted (in England) barrister.

But apparently she didn't. To all appearances, she was completely gone on him. Why, if two days passed without her hearing from him, she'd call him at his hotel. It made Cilly mad.

Attractive, Peppy

As I said, Miss Jeans is here to do a job of fluttering, somewhat in the Spring Bvington or Alice Brady manner. But on the stage in England she didn't play many silly, giggling roles. She played everything. Indeed, her record of play and screen credits occupies more than a page in "Who's Who in the Theater."

She seems much too attractive and peppy to have rolled up such a list of accomplishments over so many telltale years. She is fairly tall and weighs a bit over eight stone" (124 pounds, actually), and wears her hair something like Louise Rainer's.

The actress was born in London, daughter of an art critic, and planned to become a singer. But Sir Herbert Tree changed her mind by giving her an acting job at 15.

Since then she has appeared with almost everybody, counting Noel Coward, Ivor Novello and England's latest gift to the Shakespearean dray-ma, John Gielgud. Once she was directed by Bernard Shaw.

This "Tovarich" thing marks her American movie debut, but she played in about 10 English films.

Anton Litvak, the director, brought her from London for the current picture, and now she's here to tell Frank Morgan that fresh mannerisms, no matter how amusing originally, can become tiresome if repeated in too many pictures. Growl: why do all of our brain-proud producers overlook that grand little actress Mae Clarke, when they pass out the breaks? Maybe Adriana is a genius—but those wide-shouldered grotesques that he designs for Joan Crawford give me the jitters. Hit-and-run notion: to greet the sultry Mae West with a cheery "Good morning, Mrs. Wallace."

Wonder if my yen to choke alleged comic, Lew Lehr, proves I have no sense of humor? Nervousitch: to tell some of our "best-dressed" movie queens that well-dressed women should not wear all of their jewels at lunch. Height of something or other: A fan letter received by Loretta Young after she adopted those children—its author requested $500 because she wanted a baby and couldn't afford one. Secret ambition: to have a confidential chat with the governess of certain too-sweet movie children.

She has a big, expensive car which she drives fast. Also two pets—a cat named Wendy that likes to go swimming in the bathtub, and a parrot named Jacques that speaks only French.

FUNERAL INTERLUDE

The movie colony is snickering at a story which, true or not, is told about Tay Garnett: The director attended the funeral of a Hollywood acquaintance who in life had very few pals and who certainly was no better than he should be.

But the kindly minister delivered a glowing eulogy, extolling virtues which nobody ever had thought of attributing to the deceased.

After half an hour of this Garnett got up, walked to the casket and peered into it. The startled minister paused, and Garnett explained.

He said, "Pardon me—I just wanted to be sure I had come to the right funeral."

Sorority Chapter Will Be Responsible for State Conclave

Interesting plans are being completed by Santa Ana chapter Delta Chi Sigma sorority under the presidency of Miss Carol Smith, for the state conclave to be held in Laguna Beach September 25 and 26 at which the local members will be hostesses.

Hotel del Camino has been chosen as conclave headquarters and registration will be held there Saturday afternoon in advance of the banquet that evening, the chief social event of the conclave. Miss Alice Martin as general chairman has determined upon a Spanish theme to which appointments of Hotel del Camino lend themselves admirably. The theme will be developed in full detail for the banquet, with music and program features to correspond. Bridge will be the evening's diversion.

Sunday morning will offer a sports program with swimming, riding, tennis and other amusements planned. Delegates and members will come together for the luncheon and business meeting finale to the close of the new contest.

Mrs. Shattuck gave a talk concerning the parlor on the rapid strides it has been making along various lines. Other guests introduced were Mrs. Levitt of Hollywood and Muriel Bray as captains of membership teams, with the losers to entertain the winners at the close of the new contest.

Mrs. Shattuck gave a talk concerning the parlor on the rapid strides it has been making along various lines. Other guests introduced were Mrs. Levitt of Hollywood and Muriel Bray as captains of membership teams, with the losers to entertain the winners at the close of the new contest.

San Diego, Long Beach, Hollywood and San Francisco and their vicinities will be represented and the Portland, Ore. chapter has been asked to be represented by a delegation.

Mr. and Mrs. Phelps Inspire Farewell Courtesies

Since Mr. and Mrs. H. T. Phelps revealed their plans to leave Santa Ana soon for Hammond, Ind., to make their home, they have been feted at various affairs, with members of First Baptist church taking part in several hospitalities.

Mrs. Phelps has been director of young people's work in the church for the past year. She and Mr. Phelps will continue their activities in this field in Hammond, where Mrs. Phelps has accepted a position as director of boy's work at Brooks House Christian Center. Mrs. Phelps is well acquainted with work at the Center, where she took some of her training several years ago.

Following young people's services Sunday night in First Baptist church, Mr. and Mrs. Phelps shared honors with members who are leaving soon for college. Mrs. Phelps received a gift of pottery from the group.

At a recent Wednesday night meeting in the church, Mr. and Mrs. Phelps gave talks on their work of the coming year. Mrs. Phelps expects to leave Wednesday evening for San Diego, where she will be joined in a few days by her husband. They plan to depart for the east within the next week or 10 days.

Junior College News

Las Gitanas

The new home of Miss Evelyn Witt, 1319 North Main street, was scene of a meeting of Las Gitanas, Junior College women's service club, last night when members gathered for their first meeting of the year.

Miss Betty West, president, conducted the business meeting, at which Miss Carol Erskine was present in her capacity of faculty advisor. The evening closed with a social hour during which a dessert course was served from a table arranged with yellow and white decorations.

Sisterhood of Spinners

Gathering for their first meeting of the new school year, Junior College Spinners met last night in the home of Miss LaVonne Frandson, 2003 North Ross street.

A business meeting presided over by Miss Frandson, president, composed the evening's program. Topics of discussion were rushing and club activities for the present semester.

Candies were served during the evening. Present as advisor of the group was Mrs. Grace Knipe.

Anaheim Couples to Wed This Week

ANAEHEIM, Sept. 15.—September appears to be a busy month for June for Anaheim brides. Two weddings are scheduled this week.

Friday evening will feature the nuptial vows of Miss Mildred Boettcher and Arlan Wessel at the Bethel Baptist church. Sunday, Miss Ardell Elcher of Fullerton, will become the bride of Jack Adams, of Anaheim, at the Wesley Methodist church, South, in Anaheim. Miss Ferne Jackson and R. N. Brown were wed by the Rev. Thomas H. Walker at the Presbyterian church September 9.

Other recent weddings united Miss Hazel Churchill, of Orange and Dorsey Miller of Anaheim, Miss Mildred Bonkosky and Tom Yellis, Miss Nina Bush and Vern Backs and Miss Leona Hilgenfeld and Harvey Nunn.

Miss Betty Wallop, daughter of Mrs. Martha Wallop, 227 North Emily, will wed Phil Akerman, formerly of Anaheim but now of Riverside, October 16. Miss Emmanuel Dinkler, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. R. Dinkler, will wed Elmer Luchau, son of Mr. and Mrs. A. H. Luchau, of Orange, in the spring. Her brother, Theodore Dinkler, is taking Miss Helen Juana Whitehead for his bride on November 14. Miss Whitehead's parents are Mr. and Mrs. S. E. Whitehead.

Royal Neighbors

Several events were added to the autumn calendar by members of Magnolia camp R. N. A. when they met Monday evening in N. W. A. hall under direction of Oracle Mrs. J. C. Smith.

Magnolia Circle will meet September 23 for an all day event in the home of Mrs. Herbert Birt, 2210 Maple street. Members are requested to bring table service and covered-dishes for luncheon. September 24 will bring a meeting of Booster club in the home of Mrs. E. U. Farmer, 1211 South Parton street, where covered-dish luncheon will be served at noon.

Tentative plans were made for a rummage sale to be held next month. Harry Fink, Mrs. Farmer and Mrs. Chester Gross were appointed on a committee to plan a Halloween party.

Miss Edna Taylor and Miss Mary Schrock were initiated new members of the camp. Mr. and Mrs. Bert Fletcher were guests, and Mrs. Fletcher, district deputy gave a talk on plans for the fall membership campaign.

Mrs. Taylor won the gift of the evening. Refreshments were served by Mrs. Etta Erickson, Mrs. May Glancy, Mrs. Harriet Levering, Walter Dunlap and W. C. Drake.

Two operators handle the 240 extension lines in the private branch telephone exchange within Buckingham Palace, England.

Native Daughters Hold Open Meeting Of Season

Grand Deputy President Evelyn Shattuck and Past Deputy Roda Smith of San Bernardino were honored guests at Monday night's meeting of Santa Ana parlor Native Daughters of the Golden West in Knights of Columbus hall, where members assembled to outline plans for a busy year.

Other events of the evening were preceded by the serving of Swiss dinner at 6:30 o'clock. July, August and September birthday celebrants were honored.

Mrs. Mattie Edwards, president, conducted the meeting. She received the parlor's rising vote of thanks for her presentation of an American flag as a gift which was displayed for the first time Monday night. Her plans for the year were outlined, and it was explained that extension of the order will be stressed. She appointed Mae West and Muriel Bray as captains of the treasury to the church building fund. Miss Agnes Tozer was elected chairman of flower committee for church decorations.

Mrs. Shattuck gave a talk concerning the parlor on the rapid strides it has been making along various lines. Other guests introduced were Mrs. Levitt of Hollywood and Mrs. Reynolds of Compton. The latter invited the group to attend a stunt night program September 28 in Compton.

On display was a silver cup won recently in Santa Monica by El Rodeo Riding Club, now under the sponsorship of Native Sons and Daughters of Orange County.

A letter was read from Grand President Ethel Begley of Sacramento, who pledged herself to uphold the high ideals of the organization. She has selected friendship as the theme for the year.

Buildings of stucco, and lath arbors, are being erected under the supervision of Contractor H. C. Hind. When additions are completed, the business will be under the management of Mrs. E. M. Handy, well known in florist and Garden club circles.

Eastern Star

Eastern star officers from various Southern chapters filled the chairs for officers of Santa Ana chapter O. E. S. last night in Masonic temple, when annual courtesy night was observed with appropriate ceremony and a varied program.

Katherine Leadley of Yorba Linda and Clarence Lewis of Norwalk presided as worthy matron and patron. Other courtesy officers were Martha Hillhouse, Lyra chapter; Whittier, associate matron; Dan Gruewell, Scepter chapter, Orange, associate patron; Emma Henry, Garden Grove, conductress; Ethel Launer, La Habra, associate conductress; Lucille Walker, Garden Grove, secretary; Ettie Sweet, Hermosa chapter, Santa Ana, treasurer; Naomi Diehl, Laguna Beach, marshall; Florence Graham, Artesia, organist; Pearl Wooster, Laguna Beach, Uninc Hill of Garden Grove, Margaret Brown, Hermosa chapter, Hilda Killman, Fullerton and Mignon Waters, Garden Grove, star points; Lucy Blose, Buena Park, warden; John Page, Buena Park, sentinel; Harry Leadley, Yorba Linda, flag bearer; Margaret Hodges, Chispa chapter, Anaheim, chaplain.

Betty Gowdy and Courtney Chander, worthy matron and patron of the chapter were honored east. Others honored were seven worthy matrons and four worthy patrons; seven past matrons and three past patrons.

Pupils of Vera Getty Dancing school presented a program, with Lydia Marie Harmon presiding as mistress of ceremonies. Others taking part were Iris Crawford, Loraine Crawford, Bobette Goodwin, Mark Kruehl, Nye Martin, Ruth Cowdry, Betty Sutherland, Frances Young, Velma Stroud, Ralph Gulledge.

Refreshments were in charge of Neil Pagenkopf, Kathryn Good had arranged table decorations, which stressed an autumnal theme.

Announcements were made that Harmony Bridge club will give a benefit luncheon and bridge September 21 at noon in Masonic temple; the next regular meeting of Santa Ana chapter will be held September 27 in the temple, where covered-dish dinner will be served at 6:30 p.m. to precede a meeting and card play.

Steak Bake Is Held By Brea Class Members

SANTA ANA, Sept. 15.—Members of the S. O. S. class of the Christian church Sunday school, numbering more than 80, gathered this week in Hillcrest park, Fullerton, for a steak bake. In charge of the affair were Mr. and Mrs. John Daugherty, chairmen of the social committee.

Following the dinner and while the youngsters played games on the lawn, the adults held a business meeting, with the president, Glenn Cheen, presiding. Mrs. Frank Stipp is the teacher of the class.

Plans for renewed attendance following the summer vacations were discussed and a number of the class members were delegated to make calls. At some Sunday morning session of the class the matter of a community project will be taken up.

Regular monthly contribution of $150 was made to the Japanese fellowship in Los Angeles and $10 was transferred from the class treasury to the church building fund. Miss Agnes Tozer was elected chairman of flower committee for church decorations.

Mr. Mattie Edwards, president, conducted the meeting. She received the parlor's rising vote of thanks for her presentation of an American flag as a gift which was displayed for the first time Monday night. Her plans for the year were outlined, and it was explained that extension of the order will be stressed. She appointed Mae West and Muriel Bray as captains of the treasury to the church building fund.

On display was a silver cup won recently in Santa Monica by El Rodeo Riding Club, now under the sponsorship of Native Sons and Daughters of Orange County.

Finish Work On L. B. Nursery Soon

LAGUNA BEACH, Sept. 15.—Work is almost completed on the additions being constructed to the Wilcox nurseries at Ocean avenue and Third street, near the junction of roadway and the Laguna canyon road in Laguna Beach. When completed, the nursery will be the largest of its kind in southern Orange county, 95 feet, by 26 with a 14 foot "L" on Ocean avenue.

Buildings of stucco, and lath arbors, are being erected under the supervision of Contractor H. C. Hind. When additions are completed, the business will be under the management of Mrs. E. M. Handy, well known in florist and Garden club circles.

New York Stocks

NEW YORK, Sept. 15.—(UPI)—Stocks fluctuated irregularly today in the lightest volume since September 3. The market was lower in the initial losses of 1 to 3 points, and at one time showed gains, some ranging to nearly 4 points. The advance failed to hold, however, and near the close holding shares generally showed small losses.

However, today's performance was considered good, especially in view of some unavoidable market factors.

On favorable news of sufficient farm income to keep business good for the remainder of the year at least and indications that steel operations were holding up, the market was higher.

HOLIDAY "GAIN" ON DEATH

The ordinary prophet is chagrined to see his predictions confounded; but the National Safety Council undoubtedly was extremely happy to see its gloomy forecast of 1000 accidental deaths over the Labor Day holiday going wide of the mark.

Experience in previous years had indicated that at least that number of Americans would die in traffic and other accidents. But experience, for once, proved a poor basis for prophecy. For, as it turned out, only 500 deaths were recorded.

"Only" about 500! The grim irony of that remark indicates how fearfully careless we are, even when we do twice as well as anyone dared to expect.

BOLSHEVISM'S SIRE

It is a little bit hard to understand the reasoning of Dr. Alfred Rosenberg, Nazi party leader, in his Nurnberg declaration that Bolshevism is the "illegitimate child" of democracy.

Offhand, one would imagine Bolshevism to be the natural child of injustice, oppression and hardship. Its brief but eventful history seems to prove fairly conclusively that it grows fastest in lands where government is the most despotic. For it was born, after all, in the Russia of the czars, and no genuine democracy ever has been menaced by its rise.

In the United States we feel that democracy is the best of all defenses against Bolshevism, and, for that matter, against all other kinds of isms. It will take more than the harangue of a dictator's phrase-maker to make us see it differently.

COUNTY FAIR OPENS FRIDAY

The sixteenth annual Los Angeles county fair, in which Orange county participates, will open in the beautiful 200-acre exposition park in Pomona on Friday of this week and will continue until October 3.

Los Angeles, Riverside and Orange Counties will join in the presentation of this huge agricultural and industrial exposition.

Seven magnificent new buildings have been constructed on the Fair grounds, and on Saturday, September 18, the governor and other high state and county officials will make their official inspection. The day has been designated as Governor's Day, and an elaborate program is being prepared for this event.

Practically all of the exhibit space at the fair has been reserved, and there will be between 30,000 and 35,000 different exhibits in the twenty major divisions. The feature entries will display many elaborate creations. Eighty judges have been selected and will place the awards amounting to $150,000 in cash and trophies.

Almost every fruit and vegetable grown in the civilized world will be represented in the agricultural division.

The 4-H clubs and future farmers will hold a junior "Fair Within a Fair" and will have over 1500 entries. In the beautiful Fine Arts building, a half million dollar exhibit will be shown, with the foremost living artists and sculptors of the nation represented.

It is expected that 750,000 people will attend this Exposition, which is the largest and most beautiful county fair in the world.

CONSTITUTION EXHIBIT

Citizens of Santa Ana and Orange county, who are interested in the most important event in American history—the signing of the Constitution of the United States 150 years ago—will be interested to know that the Huntington Library is showing some of its rarest Americana in a special exhibition illustrating the formation of the document.

The exhibition develops the idea that the Constitution was not an inspired document but resulted from weeks of deliberation and argument and subsequent months of controversy over ratification by special state conventions. Among the source documents exhibited which help the visitor to realize what took place are some of the drafts actually handled by delegates during the convention proceedings at Independence Hall, Philadelphia. Notable are manuscript notes of George Mason of Virginia, one of the most active and influential deputies at the convention.

In addition to official documents leading up to the members' edition of the Constitution, printed immediately after the engrossed copy of the Constitution was signed on Sept. 17, 1787, are numerous pamphlets, books and letters throwing light on the struggle for ratification in the different states.

As befits the occasion, the exhibition is the most important ever arranged by the Huntington Library. Interest in the many unique items in the cases is enhanced by a series of thirty-two portraits of the principal delegates to the convention, on the walls.

The Huntington Library exhibition represents the finest group of documents on American constitutional history ever shown to the public in the West. It will be on view until September 30, when the galleries will be closed for one month. In November it will be shown again, at the request of school officials for the benefit of students.

RAPID REBOUND IN PRICES

Under a sound money system, where credit was not largely used as a substitute for a medium of exchange, prices as a whole seldom, if ever, rapidly advanced or declined. This was true because there was no method of increasing the money excepting discovering and producing new amounts of the metal used as money.

Now, however, that credit is largely used as a medium of exchange and the government determines the amount of credit in existence, (the amount of what is used as money in existence) prices as a whole can be reduced or lowered at the will of the government. Just as the distance between here and Los Angeles can be made as many or as few miles as is desired, by the government writing a new definition of a mile, just so prices as a whole can be made as high or as low as desired by those having control of credit desire.

What Does This Mean?

This means that those people, either by being tipped off or by some magical way of guessing, can determine what move the government will next make to raise or lower prices, as a whole, have an opportunity to accumulate large amounts of wealth without actually adding to the wealth of the country.

It means that the speculator, instead of being hindered, is greatly assisted.

It seems reasonable to presume that the government dare not permit prices to go too low or profits too low, because if they did, there would be nothing to pay the cost of the government and the unemployment would increase. This would mean, of course, that the government in power would not be popular and would lose control. It does not, therefore, seem reasonable that the government can permit prices to too rapidly increase or decrease.

The rise of the stock market on Tuesday of $5.15, after the government had announced its policy on Sunday of issuing new money for $300,000,000 of the sterilized gold and for the federal reserve to buy bonds by printing new money.

To give any man or group of men power to raise or lower prices is certainly a very dangerous power for any man or group of men to have.

COHESIVE POWER OF PUBLIC PLUNDER"

In discussing the question as to whether the Democratic Party will have a serious split, the Editor of the American Mercury is strongly of the opinion it will not. We agree with him, not only as to the Democrats having a serious split but the Republicans as well.

Grover Cleveland, some years ago, so correctly named the force which prevents both major parties from splitting up that one might believe he was inspired when he made the following statement: "It is the cohesive power of public plunder."

Neither the Republicans nor Democrats have had, to our mind, a constructive program for nearly half a century. The one constructive program passed in 1890, in the Sherman Anti-Trust Law, to prevent combinations for restraint of trade, was largely repealed in 1913.

It is due principally to the fact that both major parties have been governed by the "cohesive power of public plunder" that we have had the conditions which have existed during the present depression. It is a natural sequence of the major political parties being governed, not for what is for the good of all over a long period of time, but for the sole purpose of plundering the public.

We reap exactly what we sow.

ICED CARS BUILT CITRUS INDUSTRY

Fifty years ago the shipping of fruit from the Pacific Coast to the Atlantic seaboard in refrigerator cars proved successful. This momentous achievement was recorded on August 3, 1887, in the files of the Boston Traveller, as revealed in that newspaper's "Through the Years" column.

Fifty years, a long time in the life of the average person, yet but a brief span when it comes to the development of a state. The successful shipping of California fruit to the East coast in refrigerator cars is comparable only to the discovery of gold at Sutter's Mill as major factor in developing California. It was the one great determining factor in not only the agricultural development of Southern California, but it centered attention of the rest of the United States, as nothing else could, on the attractiveness of the Southwest for the winter tourist. Upon this winter tourist lure is founded the great all-year tourist business of the state.

The California resident or casual tourist, who pulls his motor car to a stop while a trainload of great yellow cars, ventilators flaring from their tops, clatters past behind a roaring locomotive eastward bound, may only register impatience at the grade crossing delay. Yet he is witnessing the culmination of an achievement which made the commercial production of citrus fruit in California possible. Just fifty years after the first of these refrigerator cars carried its load of fresh fruit to the eastern market, more than 1000 cars per week are rolling eastward on the same mission.

Prior to that momentous victory of half a century ago, California citrus was a plaything, an arboreal culture designed to supply only the Californian with his home grown oranges. Between California and the vast markets of the nation, the populous eastern seaboard, the busily developing midwestern states, lay a great desert. The time involved in transcontinental train transportation means the almost sure spoiling of any fruit shipped to these markets.

Then came the forerunner of the present refrigerator car. Citriculture immediately grew. By 1899 California was shipping 5,882,000 boxes of oranges to Eastern markets. This was multiplied by seven within the next thirty-five years.

All of the vast development of Southern California's water resources, without which development of this section as the Paradise of the Pacific slope could not have been possible, may be traceable to the need for water to sustain the growing citrus industry, behind which lies the first successful transcontinental shipment of California grown fruit fifty years ago. The Southland's network of railroad lines began its greatest expansion at that time, for the same reason, to carry California citrus to the Eastern markets.

The debt which Southern California agriculture, and the State, owes to the refrigerator car is almost beyond comprehension.—Long Beach Press-Telegram.

The Ghost Writer

General Hugh S.
JOHNSON Says

BETHANY BEACH, Del.—It is

line-up which argues very strongly against the three hi-jacking disturbers of world peace. Germany and Italy are a long way from Japan. If Russia is against them, they are a thin shell between the prongs of a powerful nut-cracker with England and France as the western jaw.

When England concentrated her whole fleet in the Red and Mediterranean Seas, this column made a rash prediction that Italy would not dare rape Ethiopia. That was based on usually accurate dope that England intended to use that fleet—and so she did, until she found it wasn't ready and France ran out on her. John Bull backed down.

But with his usual speed and determination he began to get ready from that very moment and as rapidly as possible. He is ready now except, perhaps, in the air and he is pressing for readiness there. France now has no salvation apart from Britain. The French army is ready.

The combined French and British fleets can dominate both the Baltic and the Mediterranean. If Russia remains a real threat in the German rear and the little Mid-European States stand, there is only a single doubt—that of air supremacy—that the "Rome-Berlin Axis" could be quickly squeezed dry and empty, as a tube of tooth paste is squeezed, and the two principal European gangster threats—Hitler and Mussolini—be sent to some international Alcatraz.

The saving grace of modern war is that it is so destructive that none dares risk it without a practical certainty of victory. If the democracies and Russia really have such overpowering strength, the gangster nations won't take a chance—they'll join the church.

The Japanese God-Emperor may have made the same mistake Napoleon did when he marched to Moscow. Mere size, distance and overwhelming numbers plus an unexpected and deathless patriotic resistance may smother him and his modern equipment as the man was smothered who undertook to conquer a roomful of pillows with a blowtorch.

The threat of superior Russian numbers, air-craft and equipment hangs like a thunder cloud over the vast hi-jacking of China also. If Japan should fall there, dismally, it would be the world's greatest blessing. That alone could put the entire gangster trio in the dog house.

Taking the whole military situation together, things do not look too rosy for the international racketeers not too black for peace. Someone has aptly said that the hi-jacking dictators are not quite ready for peace, nor the democracies quite ready for war. There is a corollary to that. When the democracies are quite ready for war, the dictators will be more than ready for peace. They will run like rats. There is still some hope for international decency.

The Japanese God-Emperor may have made the same mistake Napoleon did when he marched to Moscow. Mere size, distance and overwhelming numbers plus an unexpected and deathless patriotic resistance may smother him and his modern equipment as the man was smothered who undertook to conquer a roomful of pillows with a blowtorch.

But there is a more convincing reason why machine gun diplomacy must avoid the ultimate conclusion of present tactics. It is the same reason why men in their right minds do not commit suicide, namely that the advantages are apt to be disappointing.

Europe's leaders are scared right now, really scared for the first time. The apprehension expressed by Mr. Roosevelt a few days ago is shared by similar authorities in Europe.

The way Russia has been acting is what frightens them. Apparently comrade Stalin is feeling his new-found caviar. He has discovered new stores of raw materials gold, phosphate. He thinks he has an air superiority (as a result of experience in Spain). He has, just within the past few days, significantly transferred his most efficient manager from railroads to heavy goods, indicating that his formerly troublesome transportation problem is straightened out and that he is getting ready to wheel out his big war goods faster.

This, they say, explains the sudden belligerency in his notes to Italy.

But, what the official eyes see, through their special sights, is that Russia goes to the support of China. France will very likely be drawn in through her treaty with Russia. England would be expected to follow because she cannot afford to let France loose a war and thereby establish a stronger nation on her channel doorsteps.

This would mean Russia, France, England and China against Japan, Germany and Italy, and it would mean defeat for Japan, Germany and Italy. No one would relish a set-up like that, except possibly Russia.

And I started to read out loud to her from the paper, says Mrs. Samuel T. Smisker, age 39, of 7 Rumsey Road, was arranged before Magistrate Krakre yesterday charged with stabbing her husband with a pair of scissars. The woman claimed she was driven to the dead, when Smisker, age 42, trumped her 3rd wife within a period of 20 minutes.

O be quiet, the idea of choosing such a thing to read when my mind is still freshly warm with your father playing the worst bridge he ever played in his life, if such a thing is possible, O dear can't you find something cheerful to read in that whole big newspaper? ma said, and I said, Sure, ma, here's something.

And I started to read it, saying, Wile running to the candy store clutching a half dollar that had been given to him for his birthday, little James Rook, just 9 years old today, was struck by a truck and—

Stop, that's enough, how can you call such a thing cheerful when you know how I feel every minute about trucks even when they're not hitting anybody, ma said, and I said, Well G, ma, don't cheer you up to realize it was some other boy and not me?

Nothing will cheer me up except your absence from my site and the college that you're not stirring off the front steps into any possible danger in my present frame of mind, and the slightest argument from you will be accompanied by a slap from me, now get out, ma said.

With I did.

THE SHY CHILD

OUR CHILDREN
BY ANGELO PATRI

The shy child suffers untold agony and gets mighty little help from anybody. "Speak right up, What's the matter with you?" says the teacher sharply. "Louder. Go to the back of the room and make yourself heard."

Experience with shy children tells us a few things about them that might help teachers and parents in dealing with them. They often need better nourishment than their diet, however correct, is giving them. Often they have defects of vision or hearing or both. They shrink from harshness of any sort and thrive under praise and under the stimulation of success.

They are helped by knowing exactly what they are expected to do ahead of time. For example, we helped cure a shy child of fear to read aloud in class by telling him the day before the exact paragraph he would be asked to read and sticking closely to the bar-gain. Following an exact program helps the shy child. Doing the same thing the same day after day gives him a feeling of certainty, and confidence follows certainty.

Carrying something in his hand helps him. Taking something to deliver when doing an errand helps. A note, a bundle, without a message, is the way to start. Allowing him to hand refreshments to guests rather than forcing him to meet them formally is one way of getting him over a hard place. Encouragement piled high is the best stimulant.

Mr. Patri will give personal attention to inquiries from parents and school teachers on the care and development of children. Write him in care of this paper, enclosing a three cent stamp, self-addressed envelope for reply.

Even with adoption of "liar" and "traitor" in regular diplomatic language, some European neighbors can't take a hint anymore.

Although John L. Lewis and Tom Girdler were flying west at the same time, they took different ships. Seemed they just weren't on the same plane.

Just as Japan's army and navy got a good fight started in their own back yard, some bully like Russia comes along and breaks it up with a border incident.

A kiss was Stalin's reward for one of the North Pole pioneers, who wasn't given the alternative of the usual firing squad.

Southern Michigan prison inmates are to be taught dancing and stage presence. Nothing like being completely ready for the coming out party.
